City puts bite on flea markets, garage sale clause scratched

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

If your vehicle stops at all garage sales, then come on down to Romulus because members of the city council recently defeated an ordinance restricting such endeavors. However, at the same time members put the bite on flea markets and amended the flea market ordinance.

With 50 to 100 garage sales happening on any given weekend, according to Steve Banko, ordinance director, "Romulus is the place to be for garage sale seekers."

So while the number of garage sales is not limited nor any permits required, the annual fee for a flea market operation is now $200.

With the acceptance of the flea market ordinance, all terminology in reference to garage sales was deleted.

"That was the only reference in any law regulating garage sales. We wanted to stop garage sales from occurring on a weekly basis in the same location. As part of the flea market ordinance, garage sales were difficult to enforce. Now they are totally unenforceable," said Banko.

The proposed ordinance would have restricted garage sales to less than three consecutive days and no more than three per year in the same location. Front yard sales would have been prohibited. The posting of signs would also have been regulated. According to the rejected amendment, signs must be removed the day after the sale.

"We just wanted to know how many garage sales occur during the year. At the present time, the only known flea market operating in the city is "Green Lawn Grove" near Middlebelt and Pennsylvania roads. They've been open every weekend for three years with no problems," noted Banko.

"I intend to resubmit another revised ordinance to the council within two weeks. Our department has worked on this for two years now. We regularly receive several complaints of noise, parking and all that stuff on the front yard. That's why the proposed ordinance was initiated," stressed Banko.

"Still signs are not allowed on the public right-of-way which include utility poles and cannot obstruct the vision of motorists. Only two directional signs are permitted by the sign ordinance: one on the site and one on the main road. Signs cannot be more than four square feet. They are not allowed on public property and permission must be granted from the owner for placement on private property," Banko continued.

Banko stated signs are found on Romulus streets from as far away as Belleville or Taylor. So until September, all systems are go for garage sale seekers.

no more fun and games

Nan Meyer retired from her part-time job in the recreation department after almost 15 years of service. On her last day she and a happy group of local youngsters visited Lower Huron Metro Park for a farewell picnic. Nan affectionately earned the nickname "Mother hen" because of her watchful eye and constant attention.

She raised five of her own children and is grandmother to 11. "I'm always around a group," Nan quipped. "I really enjoy kids. Some don't want to quit the program. You have a different control over them when it's fun time. They're ready to relax and well-behaved."

Romulus crime ranks third in Wayne County

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Only two other Wayne County communities experienced more crime than Romulus residents during 1985. These are the findings collected from local officials and compiled in the FBI Uniform Crime Report released last month.

Detroit retains its dominant position at the top of the list with 139 crimes per 1,000 residents. River Rouge placed second with 107 crimes per 1,000 residents. The city of Romulus followed in third place with 99 crimes per 1,000 residents.

There were also double the reported number of arsons in the city of Romulus than anywhere in the county. Only the number of arsons in Northville, 1.4 per 1,000 residents comes close to the 3.2 per 1,000 residents in Romulus. The actual number of arsons for the 1985 year was 80.

The city of Romulus also ranked first in theft throughout the county with 52 incidents per 1,000 residents. Dearborn reported 50 per 1,000 residents and placed second. Melvindale was third.

The city of Romulus ranked third in the category of rape with 1.2 per 1,000 residents. Taylor came in second with 1.3 per 1,000 residents. Detroit was third with 1.4 per 1,000 residents.

Detroit ranked first with 635 murders in 1985. River Rouge was second in the number of murders and Inkster third. The city of Romulus ranked fourth with four murders. The city also ranked fourth in burglary, fourth in assault, fifth in auto theft, and seventh in robbery. These figures are all 1985 reported crimes.

"The problem is not mostly with Romulus residents but ultimately our residents and their property are victims."

"No police chief wants to have a high ranking in crime," responded Police Chief Charles Wilmoth about the crime situation in Romulus.

"So far this year, each month I've reported an increase. One million people travel in and out of this city within one month's time. The problem is transience and it is unique to this community. Burglary and theft are the result of this situation. Again, I emphasize the importance of the Neighborhood Watch Program. It works," stated Wilmoth.

"These crime figures identify a problem. We now want to identify high crime areas which our new computer system will allow us to do. They were installed four months ago and are just in the infancy stage of developing a data base. We want to address the total problem. We're hiring more police officers and using our reserves force more frequently.

"As more and more people get involved with crime prevention and more cooperation occurs between police and the community, our problems can be reduced," he said.

"As I said before, in the case of rape, 90 percent of the assaults are between two people who know one another. There's not a mad rapist at large," said Wilmoth.

"We have a stolen car problem. Cars are brought to Romulus, stripped and burned to cover-up any evidence. There are many car rental places and many parking lots. Over 50 percent of all our arson cases are car fires. This is a tough area because fires could result from a burnt cigarette or faulty wiring. It's hard to prove. Most cars recovered in the city are not owned by city residents," he said.

The classification for arson includes many types of fires. Dumpster, trash, structure, house, garage, etc. and many with no explanation at all are recorded as arson, according to Lieutenant Ken Kraus. "They're all lumped together. The statistics are hard to explain. Only after a very time consuming investigation, can a determination be made. Many possibilities exist," Kraus noted.

"The high influx of people allows people to do what they want and leave the city. The problem is not mostly with Romulus residents but ultimately our residents and their property are victims. This is why cooperation with Neighborhood Watch is important. We need their support to control crime. Between the two of us we can solve this crime problem," concluded Wilmoth.

Summer's over

First day of school

As summertime fun gives way to thoughts of pencils and schoolbooks, registration at Romulus High School begins.

On Thursday and Friday of this week, Romulus High School will distribute class schedules and resolve problems related to them, take underclass pictures and distribute I.D. cards, accept applications for parking permits, assign lockers and accept lunch requests.

Seniors will be measured for caps and gowns which will cost $10.50 at this time.

The Romulus High School Early Registration is as follows:

THURSDAY, AUGUST 21

Juniors, A-M, from 8 to 9:15 a.m.; N-Z, from 9:45 to 11 a.m.

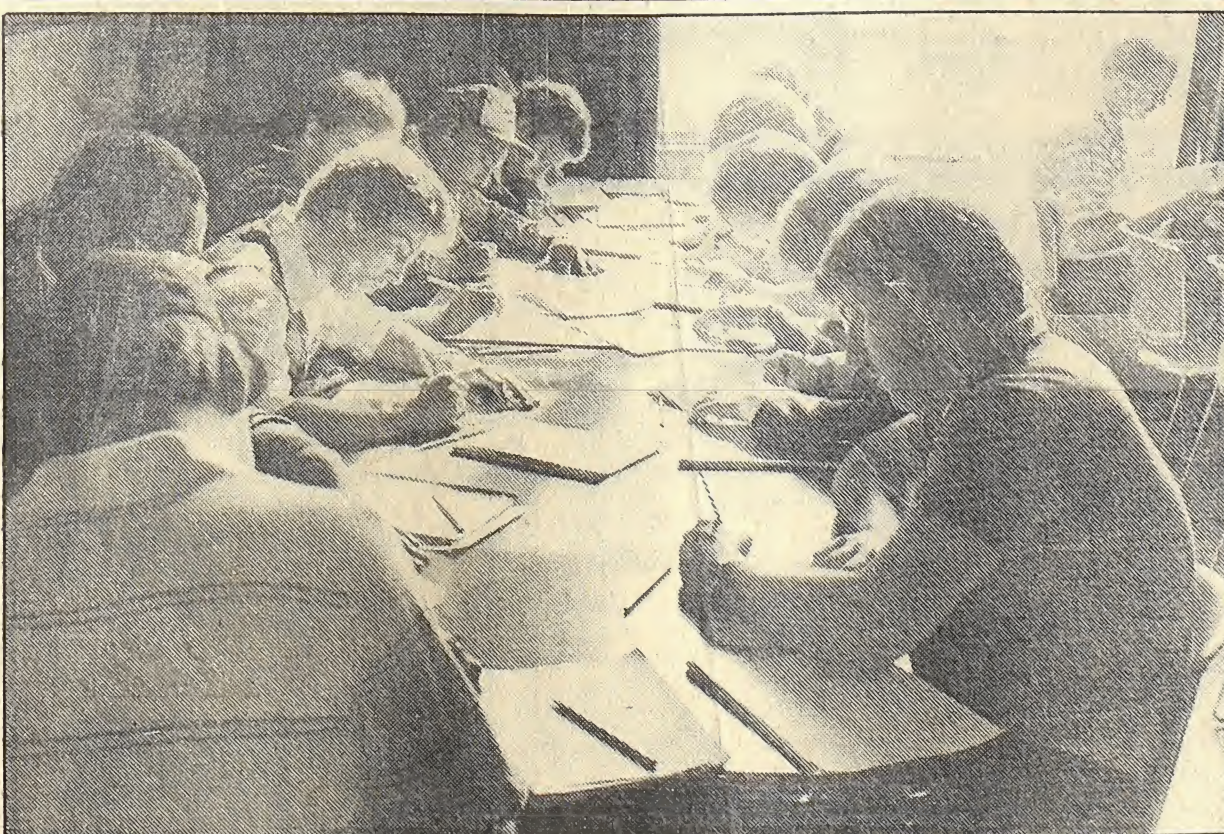

Freshman, A-M, from 12:15 to 1:30 p.m.; N-Z, 1:45 to 3 p.m.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 22

Seniors, A-M, from 8 to 9:15 a.m.; N-Z, 9:45 to 11 a.m.

Sophomores, A-M, from 12:15 to 1:30 p.m.; N-Z, 1:45 to 3 p.m.

Questions regarding early registration should be referred to the main office at the high school at 941-2170.

The two-hour test was administrated by the Michigan Municipal League at the Romulus Police Department to all interested parties, according to Marilyn Radford. The results are expected this week.

Arrest ability tested

Last Monday, almost 50 hopeful men and women completed the first in a series of tests from which only four people will be selected as future Romulus Police officers.

This will be the first time non-certified officers have been tested and chosen for the Romulus Police department since the department began in 1970.

"The next steps are the agility test, the oral boards, a psychological and physical test. We also conduct a background investigation. The entire process should be complete within three months with the new officers on the street at that time. Potential officers selected must meet the residency requirement within one year," said Marilyn Radford, personnel director.

Cemetery bears signs of neglect

By JOAN MARY DYER
ANP Staff Writer

William Ganong set aside an acre of land "as a final resting place for friends and loved ones" on his property bordering Tobine (now Henry Ruff Road) some time before the turn of the century.

Today, the William Ganong Cemetery is overgrown with weeds and many of its gravesites are littered with debris. The historic cemetery, which was set aside "as a mark of respect and a token of love for those who were to come after him," is largely forgotten and neglected on a parcel of property labeled "surplus" by Wayne County.

On Memorial Day in 1953 the Wayne Veterans Association honored former members of the Grand Army of the Republic who are buried there. Now, only a few, faded artificial bouquets are there to show that anyone remembers the pioneer families who are buried on the plot.

Recent interest in the cemetery has been generated through efforts of the city of Westland to have the property sold by the county and developed into a combination of multi-family residences and light to medium manufacturing uses. Joseph Benyo, who serves on the Westland Economic Development Advisory Commission, has asked county officials to make provisions to preserve the historic cemetery in the event that the surrounding land was developed.

According to records in the Wayne Historical Museum, the land was originally part of the Ganong farm. The Ganongs were French Huguenots who originated in Lyons, France. The records indicate that the mother of Queen Elizabeth of England originated from the Ganong family of Lyons, thus tying the local pioneers to the royal family.

On March 13, 1897, a cemetery association was organized with William Ganong's children, Joshua, Charles, Elizabeth, Rachel and Esther, listed as controlling officers. Their first order of business was to purchase an additional acre of land from Charles to double the size of the cemetery. In May of the same year the association voted to build a barbed wire fence on the south and west sides of the cemetery and in the following year a strip of land on the west side of the cemetery was set aside as a potter's field.

Fifty evergreens were purchased and set out and a sign indicated the name of the cemetery was placed over a front gate in 1899. Lot owners named in the early records include Tinkhams, Sims, Butlers, Edmonds, Randalls, Hubbards and Orrs.

In 1942 a newspaper clipping noted that "after years of neglect," an association was formed to put the cemetery in order with Alonzo Kleabir as president, Ray Orr as vice-president, May Hubbard as secretary, Lottie Amrhein as treasurer. Trustees named were J.M. Swegles, Floyd Ganong and Alfred Baker.

Again, the historic cemetery is suffering from years of neglect, and local historians are concerned regarding its future and the future of the ancestors who lie buried there.

romulus news in brief

A MOVE TO the city Taylor by Spindle and Machine Services at Ecorse and Cogswell roads in Romulus will cost the city not only the 25 present jobs but also the 10-20 newly created jobs expected at the new site located in the Metro Telegraph Industrial Park on Northline Road. The project cost is estimated at about $525,000 for the existing 12,300 square foot facility. "The move will remove $1,699 in city revenue and $7,202 in school revenue from the tax roll. This does not take into account the revenue that will not be realized from the new development," said Mathew Raftary, city of Romulus assessor.

Spindle and Machine Services began in Romulus eight years ago and according to Margaret Higgins, company controller, "We had run out of space and wanted to move into an existing building immediately. The facility in Taylor was reasonably priced." Members of city council approved the transfer contingent upon payment of 1986 property taxes and the water bill. "We had no complaints with the city of Romulus," said Higgins. The city of Romulus does have six industrial parks with space available and would be an ideal location noted Raftary.

A SUSPECTED ARMED robbery took place at the Total Gas Station at Wayne and Ecorse roads early Saturday morning at 7:55. The lone attendant was approached by a male who announced a hold-up while holding his hand near his belt buckle but no weapon was seen, according to police officials. The suspect fled on foot with a small amount of money and entered a vehicle which headed southbound on Wayne Road. Police are looking for a medium blue sub-compact late 1980s model car and a thin 140 pound black male about 28 years old. Information about the incident should be referred to the Romulus Police Department at 942-1111.

ROMULUS CO-OP STUDENTS will earn more money this year as the result of a motion by the Board of Education to increase their hourly pay to $4. "Presently, the school district is among the lowest paying employers. The proposed raise would bring students to the same level by the city of Romulus," officials said. So for the upcoming school year, co-op students go from the lowest paid at $3.35 per hour, to among the highest. Co-op students working for Manufacturer's Bank earn near the top of the scale at $4.40 per hour.

MAYOR BEVERLY McANALLY was appointed vice-chairperson to SEMCOG's Council of Regional Development (CORD). Director of Community and Economic Development Richard Viskochil was appointed as the mayor's alternate if she would be unable to attend. "This advisory board provides decisions on SEMCOG's General Assembly and Executive Committee," said Robert Smith, chairperson of SEMCOG. The first meeting of SEMCOG will be in September.

SEMCOG (Southeast Michigan Council of Governments) addresses all major regional policy issues relating to housing, land use, transportation, economic development, open space and recreation, demographics and the environment. They advise and recommend policy action on regional studies, plans and programs and their implementation. Finally, they provide for a merging of governmental, technical, private citizen, public and private sector interests in considering regional development, according to a spokesman.

a pet

Meet Tuxedo. He is 4 months old, nearly housebroken, good with children and other animals and in desperate need of a loving home. The black and white mixed breed pup is awaiting adoption at the Westland animal shelter where workers estimate his full-grown size at about 50 pounds. If you might have a home for Tuxedo or one of the other animals at the shelter, more information is available at 721-7300.

dan's dogs

dan a. morris

As unfortunate as it may be, dog trainers cannot work miracles. So often we receive phone calls from desperate people anxious to have us solve some dilemma they got into because of their dog. They waited too long to correct a problem and now that the situation is out of control they call upon us for a solution. We only wish there were easy and definite answers to give them to make the trouble disappear but there are none. For example, there is very little if anything that can be done once a dog has attacked someone. When we caution people about the dangers of tying a dog in the yard or isolating it for long periods of time, the most common excuse given us is that "the dog likes it outside" or "I'm not having that monster in the house with all that hair." Well, why have a dog at all, then?

When we explain how aggression is increased whenever a dog is roughhoused with or teased people say "we like playing with the dog".

After each explanation from the caller of why they treat the dog as they do, they still demand a solution to the problem they, themselves, have created and will not correct (They are not hearing what they want to hear!) In cases like this, we feel sorry for the dog. He's enjoying life now, but his time on earth will be short-lived. This is because once he has bitten someone, his owners have been taken to court, he will either be put to sleep or be given away. He'll more than likely bite again, no matter how many new homes he's passed to and will end up eventually being put to sleep by someone else.

If a problem with the dog is bad enough to call a trainer for answers, have faith in his judgment, background and credentials. He shouldn't be in business if he doesn't know what he is doing. Help him to help you. If, after calling one trainer or another, you are not satisfied, keep trying until you find one you can trust and follow his instructions.

The dog you save just may be your own.

6. Motion by Bergeron, supported by Baumann, to adopt the following resolution opposing HR 3838:
WHEREAS: One of the provisions of H.R. 3838 sets forth reporting requirements concerning payments of property taxes, and;
WHEREAS: The provision calls for local units of government to supply a 1099 form to each taxpayer indicating the amount of property tax paid; also, a copy would have to be supplied to the Internal Revenue Service, and;
WHEREAS: The local governments would have to contact all taxpayers who receive tax bills to obtain their Social Security Number or Numbers if the property is held jointly, and;
WHEREAS: All the information to be put on the 1099 form, including the Social Security Number, would have to be entered into a computer, if the local community has one, or typed and mailed out; and the cost of the forms, employee time, postage (including the initial contact to the taxpayers for their Social Security Numbers if they will give that information) could be exorbitant, and
WHEREAS: Local communities are experiencing cut-backs in General Revenue Funds and are asked to perform a service that would be costly and unnecessary since taxpayers already receive copies of their paid property taxes and could attach a copy to their tax return,
NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: That the City Council of the City of Romulus, do hereby opposes that portion of H.R. 3838 which would require local communities to furnish 1099 forms to taxpayers and the Internal Revenue Service, and
BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be sent to Governor James Blanchard, U.S. Congressman William D. Ford, U.S. Senators Carl Levin and Donald W. Riegle, State Senator William Faust, State Representative Lynn Owen, and all surrounding communities.

Below, Terry Spaw, 8, hopes to get the edge on all her classmates this year by finding just the right Trapper Keeper. Spaw is still undecided on whether to stick with the cuddly puppy this year or maybe try for something a little more aggressive. Meanwhile, Irene Kanakis and Anne Marie Kanakis exchange a few fashion tips in a mother-daughter conversation.

Back to school

Books, bracelets and a barrage of school shoppers have hit the local shopping malls just in time for the annual rites of "back to school."

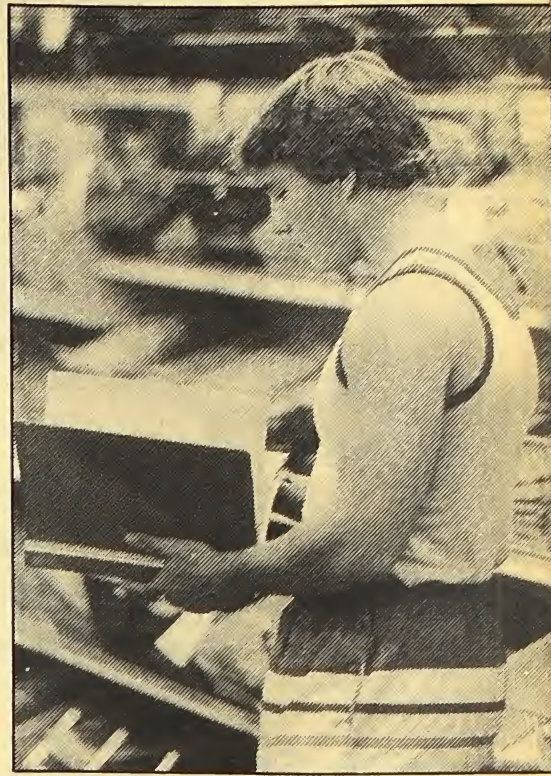

Area retailers are reported to be stocking the traditional blue-lined notebook paper and an wide assortment of pens, pencils and crayons this season as well as a few new faces to the school-supply shelves.

Thus, shoppers have been invaded by Voltrons, Zorkons, Masters of the Universe, Gremlins, Garfields and the ever-loved Snoopy materials. But, rulers, makers and five-color erasers aren't the only tools necessary for a successful year back at the old school grindstone.

Bright colors, over-sized sweaters and the "me" look have invaded the school fashion scene this school season with the traditional look of Levi's still being the "in" thing to wear and the designer fad of a few years back taking a back seat to the individual, creative fashion designs.

Many area school districts and private schools will head back to the reading, writing and 'rithmetic next Monday while some students will have until after Labor Day before the books and the basics become an everyday way of life again.

And one can only bet that the classroom struggle to be the best will surely include a duo between who has the classiest Trapper Keeper complete with Zorkon and all his counterpart foes along with a sideline fight to see who has the most popular lunch pail.

But given a few weeks into September, even that rucus will die down slightly for another year as the school bells echo through the hallways the sounds of another year of learning getting underway.

ANP photostory by Guy Warren

At the top, Guy Lotowicz makes sure no notes are written in his new binder while Jennifer Augustine, 11, is detained by the huge selection of school supplies available this year.

CONTINENTAL AIRLINES DENIES LOSING PASSENGER'S LUGGARE

Dear Letter Writer

In February, 1984, I flew Continental Airlines and they lost my baggage. I filed a claim form and waited to hear something. Then they wrote me a letter telling me that I had not filed a claim (I have copies) and, therefore, denied my claim. I wrote them again in August, 1985, and they have ignored my letter. Would you please write a letter that will get their attention.

Sincerely, SS
Dear Claims Analyst System,
Continental Airlines:

Enclosed please find copies of four pieces of correspondence between myself and Continental Airlines. Also enclosed, please find "Receipt for Baggage Claim Checks," dated Feb. 26, 1984. In the spring of this year (1986), it will be two years since my Continental flight and resultant loss of baggage.

As the enclosed copies will clearly show, I have been the recipient of convoluted language and patronization on your part as a representative of

eades

Continental.

Thus far, as your records will reveal, I have complied with all of your requests and executed the proper documentation toward recovery of my luggage.

You allege in your letter of May 31, 1984, that the loss was not timely filed and asked that I fill in another loss form. The loss was very timely filed, i.e. on the day of the loss. I nevertheless, due to your negligence, refilled a second time, per your request.

It is clear that I flew on Continental and at the termination of the flight, my baggage was unavailable to me. I have been exposed to harrassing, arbitrary and capricious treatment by Continental. I have been patient - two years. By this letter, I demand an immediate response to my request for resolution of this matter.

As previously stated, I am a professional dancer and my luggage contained in excess of $1,000 in costumes which missing needlessly complicated my life. I look forward to your prompt response.

Sincerely, SS

RESOLUTION:

On April 9, 1986, and March 5, 1986, we wrote to the Office of Inter-Governmental and Consumer Affairs and, again, to New Continental Airlines. In May, 1986, SS reported to me that she receive a telephone call from Consumer Affairs explaining that it was very common for an airline to use the excuse that the passenger did not file a timely claim as that position allowed the airlines to disallow and not take responsibility for the claim. SS will be out of the country for approximately four months and upon her return, we will file a claim in Small Claims Court for the amount of loss.

Your responses to my column are appreciated. Keep in touch with me at 42245 Ann Arobr Road, PMC Center, Suite 109LL, Plymouth, MI 48170, or give me a call at 455-8892.

CITY OF ROMULUS CHAPTER V, ARTICLE 12.1

AN ORDINANCE TO ADOPT THE BOCA BASIC/NATIONAL FIRE PREVENTION CODE, 1984 EDITION BY REFERENCE AND FIRE CONTROL MEASURES AND REGULATIONS.

WHEREAS: The City of Romulus has long operated under the BOCA Basic Fire Prevention Code, and the same has been amended from time to time, and in operating thereunder has found the same to be fair, comprehensive and satisfactory as a basic Fire Prevention Code for the City of Romulus, and;

WHEREAS: It is the intention of the City of Romulus in adopting the BOCA Basic Fire Prevention Code of 1984 to establish model fire prevention regulations for the protection of public health, safety and welfare of the citizens of the City of Romulus, and;

WHEREAS: The purpose of the intent of this code is to prescribe minimum requirements and controls to safeguard life, property or public welfare from the hazards of fire and explosion arising from the storage, handling or use of substances, materials or devices and from conditions hazardous to life, property or public welfare in the use or occupancy of buildings, structures, sheds, tents, lots or premises'. All matters within the intent of this code and not covered by this code shall comply with the referenced standards listed in Appendix A.

THE CITY OF ROMULUS ORDAINS:

Section 1. SHORT TITLE: These regulations as set forth herein shall be known as the Fire Prevention Code of the City of Romulus and are herein referred to as such or as "this code".

Section 2. Alternate methods and materials: The fire officials may accept alternate methods of satisfying the intent of this code if the materials, methods or work is at least the equivalent of that required by this code in quality, effectiveness, durability and safety, and meets or exceeds the intent of the code.

Section 3. The BOCA Basic Fire Prevention Code 1984 Edition (Sixth Edition) and Fire Control Measures and Regulations, is hereby adopted by the City of Romulus be reference as if as set out fully in its entire length. The 1981 Edition of the Life Safety Code, of the Nation Fire Code, is hereby adopted by the City of Romulus by references as if set out fully in its entire length. The National Fire Codes, 1984 Edition, Volumes 1 through 8, shall serve as specific reference material in support of the BOCA Basic Fire Prevention Code, 1984 Edition. The Clerk of the City shall keep three (3) copies of this Code on file in the office of the Clerk of the City of Romulus, and from the date which this Ordinance shall take effect, the provisions, except as modified herein, shall be controlling within the City of Romulus.

Section 4. REFERENCE IN CODE: Reference in the BOCA Basic National Fire Prevention Code "Jurisdiction" shall mean the City of Romulus; references in the Code to "Fire Official" shall mean the Chief Fire Inspector of the City of Romulus, who shall administer and enforce the Code.

Section 5. RETENTION: Retention of other codes adopted by references in other City Ordinances. Any and all other codes, relating to matters of fire prevention/protection regulations and controls; more specifically Chapter 512, an Ordinance to adopt the BOCA Basic Fire Prevention Code of 1984 are hereby reaffirmed and readopted by reference.

Section 6. TEE SCHEDULE: Any and all fees for permits, licenses, examinations and appeals shall be established in accordance with the BOCA Basic Fire Prevention Code of 1981 by resolution of the City Council of the City of Romulus.

Section 7. PENALTY: Any person who willfully violates any of the provisions of this Ordinance or policies shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of Five Hundred ($500.00) dollars, or to imprisonment for a period not to exceed Ninety (90) days, or to both such fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the Court.

Section 8. SEVERABILITY: Should any section, clause or provision of this Ordinance be declared by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, the same shall not affect the validity of the Ordinances as a whole or any part thereof other than the section, clause or provision of this Ordinance declared by such Court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid.

Section 9. The Provisions of this Ordinance shall take effect immediately upon publication in a newspaper of general circulation.

I, Linda R. Choate, Clerk for the City of Romulus do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an Ordinance adopted at the regular meeting of the Romulus City Council held on the 4th day of August, 1986.

Van Buren makes no commitment to ambulance companies

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The question of whether Huron Valley Ambulance, Inc. or French Landing Ambulance Co. - or both - will provide ambulance service to Van Buren residents will be left up to the township police-fire commission, township officials said today.

The township board last Tuesday decided to ask for a recommendation from the police-fire commission which direction the board should take. "As it stands now," said Delphine Dudick, township clerk, "both companies are servicing the township. Presently, the board apparently doesn't want to commit itself in the form of a resolution favoring one over the other, and therefore, no contract has been awarded to either company." Taylor Ambulance, which was providing ambulance service to the township and to Belleville and Sumpter Township, decided to pull out of the area because the company was apparently losing money. Taylor officials had asked for and township and city officials had rejected Taylor's request for a $185,000 annual subsidy in order to remain in the area. Taylor pulled out on July 4. In June, Sumpter officials unanimously agreed to give French Landing a contract to service its township citizens while Belleville decided to go with Huron Valley Ambulance. Huron Valley is housed in the Belleville Fire Station while French Landing has used the vices would be responsible to service. The representative said that 1-94 would serve as the dividing line if the proposal would be approved by the committee and the board.

“As it stands now, both companies are servicing the township.” --Delphine Dudick

- (b) Whenever any portion has been damaged by fire, wind, flood, or by any other cause in such a manner that the strength or stability is appreciably less than it was before such catastrophe and is less than the minimum requirements of the Building Code of the City of Romulus for a new building or similar structure, purpose of location.
- (c) Whenever a building or structure has interior walls or other vertical structural members list, lean or buckle to such an extent that a plumb line passing through the center of gravity falls outside of the middle one-third (1/3) of its base.
- (d) Whenever any portion or member of appurtenance is likely to fall or to become detached or dislodged, or to collapse and thereby injure persons or damage property.
- (e) Whenever the building or structure, shows damage or deterioration of the support member or members or damage or deterioration of the non-supporting enclosing or outside walls or covering.
- (f) Whenever the building or structure of any part, because of dilapidation, deterioration, decay, faulty construction, or because of the removal or movement of some portion of the ground necessary for the purpose of supporting such building or portion thereof, or for other reason, is likely to partially or completely collapse or some portion of the foundation underpinning is likely to fall or give away.
- (g) Whenever, for any reason whatsoever, the building or structure or any portion is manifestly unsafe for the purpose for which it used.
- (h) When the building or structure has been so damaged by fire, wind, or flood, or has become so dilapidated or deteriorated as to become an attractive nuisance to children who might play therein to their danger, or as to afford a harbor for vagrants, criminals or immoral persons, or as to enable persons to resort thereto for the purpose of committing a nuisance or unlawful or immoral acts.
- (i) Whenever a building or structure, because of dilapidation, decay, damage, or faulty construction or arrangement or otherwise, is unsanitary or unfit for human habitation or is in a condition that is likely to cause sickness or disease when so determined by the Health Officer, or is likely to work injury to the health, safety or general welfare of those living or working within.
- (j) Whenever any building becomes vacant, dilapidated and open at door or window, leaving the interior of the building exposed to the elements or accessible to entrance by trespassers.
- Section 3. DANGEROUS AND/OR DETERIORATED BUILDINGS; UNLAWFUL: It shall be unlawful for any owner or agent thereof to keep or maintain any building or part thereof which is a dangerous and/or defective buildings as defined in this ordinance.
- Section 4. NOTICE OF HEARING; POSTING: When the whole or any part of any building or structure is found to be in dangerous and/or deteriorated condition the City Building Inspector shall issue a notice of the dangerous and/or defective condition. The notice shall specify the time and place of a hearing on the condition of the building or structure at which time and place the person to whom the notice is directed shall have the opportunity to show cause, if any there by, why the said building or structure should not be ordered demolished or otherwise made safe. All such notices shall be in writing and at least ten (10) days prior to the date of said hearing mailed by certified mail, return receipt requested, to any party in interest as shown by the most recent tax roll, and to the title holder of record to the Register of Deeds for the County of Wayne, and in addition thereto, shall be posted conspicuously upon the building or structure.
- Section 5. HEARING OFFICER; DUTIES:
- (a) A Hearing Officer shall be appointed by the Mayor to serve at the pleasure of the Mayor.
- (b) The Building Inspector shall file a copy of the notice of the dangerous condition of any building with the Hearing Officer.

- (c) At any hearing held, the Hearing Officer shall take testimony of the Building Inspector, the owner of the property, and any other interested party. Upon the taking of such testimony, the Hearing Officer shall render his decision either closing the proceedings or ordering the building to be demolished.
- (d) If it is determined by the Hearing Officer that the building or structure should be demolished or otherwise made safe, he shall so order, fixing a time in the order for the owner or party in interest to comply therewith.
- (e) If the owner or party in interest fails to appear or neglects or refuses to comply with the order, the Hearing Officer shall file a report of his findings and a copy of this order with the City of Romulus City Council and request that the necessary action be taken to demolish or otherwise make safe the buildings or structure. A copy of such findings and order of the Hearing Officer shall be served on the owner or party in interest in the manner prescribed in Section 4.
- Section 6. HEARING; PROCEDURE: Upon receiving the findings and order of the Hearing Officer the City of Romulus City Council shall fix a date for hearing, reviewing the findings and order of the Hearing Officer and shall give notice to the owner or party in interest in the manner prescribed in Section 4 of the time and place of the hearing. At the hearing, the owner or party in interest shall be given the opportunity to show cause why the building should not be demolished or otherwise made safe and the City Council shall either approve, disapprove, modify the order or demolition or making safe of the building or structure.
- Section 7. VIOLATIONS; PENALTIES: In the event of the failure or refusal of the owner or party in interest to comply with the decision of the City of Romulus City Council, the City Council may, in its discretion, contract for the demolition or making safe shall be a lien against the real property, and shall be reported to the Assessing Officer of the City who shall assess the cost against the property on which the building or structure is located. The owner or party in interest, in whose name the property appears upon the last local tax assessment records of the City, shall be notified of the amount of such costs by first class mail at the address shown on records. If he fails to pay the same within thirty (30) days after mailing by the Assessor of the notice of the amount thereof, the Assessor shall add the same to the next tax roll of the City of Romulus and same shall be collected in the same manner in all respects as provided by law for the collection of taxes by the City.
- Section 8. APPEAL: An owner or party in interest aggrieved by any final decision of the City of Romulus City Council may appeal the decision or order to the Circuit Court for the County of Wayne by filing a petition for an order of superintending control within twenty days from the date of such decision.
- Section 9. PENALTY: Any person, firm, association, partnership, or corporation violating any of the terms of this Ordinance shall be subject to a fine of not more than Five Hundred ($500.00) dollars or to imprisonment for not to exceed Ninety (90) days or both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the Court.
- Section 10. REPEALERS: All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed only to the extent necessary to give this ordinance full force and effect.
- Section 11. SEVERABILITY: If any provision of this Ordinance is found by a Court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid or unconstitutional, or if the application of this Ordinance to any person or circumstances is found to be invalid or unconstitutional, such invalidity or unconstitutionality shall not affect the other provisions or applications of this Ordinance which can be given effect without the invalid or unconstitutional provision or application.
- Section 12. EFFECTIVE DATE: This ordinance shall become effective immediately upon publication in the official newspaper as required by City Charter.
- I, Linda R. Choate, Clerk for the City of Romulus do hereby certify the foregoing to be a true copy of an Ordinance duly adopted by the City Council of the City of Romulus at their regular meeting held the 4th day of August, 1986.

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND CHAPTER 517, THE FLEA MARKET ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF ROMULUS BY THE DELETION OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS THERETO.

THE CITY OF ROMULUS ORDAINS:

- Section 1. SHORT TITLE: This ordinance shall be known as and cited as the amended Flea Market Ordinance.
- Section 2. Section 517.101: is hereby repealed and a new Section 517.101 is adopted to read as follows:
- (a) "Flea Market", shall mean a market for which antiques and/or second-hand articles are sold from stands or counters, pavilions, tents or buildings.
- (b) "Goods", shall mean any goods, warehouse merchandise or their property capable of being the object of a sale regulated hereunder.
- Section 3. Section 517.300 is hereby repealed, and a new Section 517.300 is adopted to read as follows:
- (a) Persons selling goods pursuant to an order or process of a court of competent jurisdiction.
- (b) Persons acting in accordance with their powers and duties as public officials
- (c) Any sale regulated under any other provisions of the Ordinance of the City of Romulus.
- (d) Any sale conducted by any merchant or mercantile or other business establishment from or at a place of business wherein such sale would be permitted by the Zoning Regulations of the City of Romulus or under the protection of the presently non-conforming section thereof, or any other sale conducted by a manufacturer, dealer, or vendor, and which sale would be conducted from properly zoned premises and not otherwise prohibited by the Ordinances of the City of Romulus.
- (e) Any bonafide charitable, eleemosynary, religious, educational, cultural or governmental institution or organization, provided, however, that the burden of establishing the exemption under this subsection shall be on the organization or institution claiming such exemption.
- (f) Auction by lawfully qualified auctioneer.
- Section 4. SEVERABILITY: The various parts, sections, and clauses of this ordinance are hereby declared to be severable. If any part, sentence, paragraph, section or clause is adjudged unconstitutional or invalid by a court of competent jurisdiction, the remainder of the ordinance shall not become affected thereby. All other ordinances inconsistent with the provisions of this ordinance are, to the extent of such inconsistencies, hereby repealed.
- Section 5. PENALTIES: Any person, firm, group, corporation or organization violating any of the provisions of the ordinance shall, upon conviction thereof, be subject to a fine of not more than Five Hundred ($500.00) dollars or imprisonment for a period not more than ninety (90) days, or to both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the Court.
- Section 6. EFFECTIVE DATE: This Ordinance shall take immediate effect upon publication in the official newspaper.

Money on wheels

Lots of money came rolling into the Don Massey Cadillac dealership in Plymouth recently when the Bicentennial Money Car paid a visit. The car, said to be the largest bicentennial project by an individual, is covered by 120,000 bicentennial coins shaped and curved to the contours of the car. Designed and built by Hal Woods of Midland, Texas, the car was on exhibit at the local Cadillac and Rolls Royce dealership in early August. Here Dawn Swinton shows off the multitude of coins embellished on the car.

CITY OF ROMULUS CHAPTER XV, ARTICLE III AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR THE LICENSING OF ENTERTAINERS AND OR DANCERS EMPLOYED BY COMMERCIAL ESTABLISHMENTS PROVIDING ADULT ENTERTAINMENT CHARACTERIZED BY AN EMPHASIS ON SEXUAL ACTIVITIES AS DEFINED HEREIN:

THE CITY OF ROMULUS ORDAINS:

- Section 1. SHORT TITLE: Entertainers and or Dancers Ordinance.
- Section 2. DEFINITIONS: For the purpose of the provisions of this ordinance, the following words and phrases shall be construed to have the meanings herein set forth, unless it is apparent from the context that a different meaning is intended.
SPECIFIED SEXUAL ACTIVITIES: (1) Human genitals in a state of sexual stimulation or arousal; (2) Acts of human masturbation sexual intercourse or sodomy; (3) Fondling or other erotic touching of human genitals, pubic region, buttocks or female breast.
SPECIFIED ANATOMICAL AREAS: (1) Less than completely and opaquely covered human genitals, pubic region, buttocks, or female breast below a point immediately above the top of the areola; (2) Human male genitals in a discernibly turgid state, whether or not covered.
- Section 3. LICENSE REQUIRED: (A) It shall be unlawful for any licensee of any theater or establishment offering any kind of show emphasizing specified sexual activities or specified anatomical areas, his agent or employee to employ any person as a dancer or entertainer unless such person possesses a valid entertainers license issued by the City of Romulus. (B) it shall be unlawful for any person to provide his or her services as a dancer or entertainer in any theater or establishment offering any kind of show emphasizing specified sexual activities or specified anatomical areas, unless such person possesses at the place of employment a valid entertainer's license issued by the City of Romulus.
- Section 4. APPLICATION FOR LICENSE: Any person desiring employment as a dancer or entertainer in a theater or establishment for which an entertainer's license is required shall first make application to the City Clerk for a license therefore.
- Section 5. APPLICATION FEE: At the time the application is filed, a non-refundable application fee as established by resolution of Council shall be remitted to the City Treasurer and shall be in addition to any other fee required by this ordinance.
- Section 6. APPLICATION CONTENTS: An applicant for a license as required herein shall submit the following information to the City Clerk:
- (a) The full name and present address of the applicant.
  - (b) The two previous addresses immediately prior to the present address of applicant and dates of residence.
  - (c) A description of services to be provided.
  - (d) The location, name, and mailing address of all prospective employers.
  - (e) Written proof (birth certificate or sworn affidavits) that the applicant is at least eighteen (18) years of age.
  - (f) Individual applicant's height, weight, sex, color of eyes and hair.
  - (g) One portrait photograph at least two (2) inches by two (2) inches and a complete set of the applicants fingerprints, which shall be taken by the chief of police of Romulus or his agent.
  - (h) All criminal conviction other than traffic violations and the reasons therefore.
  - (i) Proof of U.S. citizenship.
  - (j) The application shall be signed and sworn to be said applicant.
  - (k) Such other identification and information necessary to discover the truth of the matters herein specified as required to be set forth in the application.
- Section 7. ISSUANCE OF LICENSE: The Romulus City Clerk shall issue or renew an entertainer's license after the Romulus City Police have completed a criminal record check of the City police department's record bureau. A record of conviction for an offense involving gambling, narcotics, prostitution, pandering, or pornography, or a violation of any provision of this ordinance within the preceding two (2) years shall constitute grounds for refusal to issue or renew an entertainer's license.
- Section 8. RENEWAL AND REVOCATION OF LICENSE. The entertainer's license shall be renewed annually on December 31. Such license shall remain the property of the City of Romulus and shall be surrendered on demand upon proof being submitted to the City Clerk or City Police of any violation of the conditions of issuance.
- Section 9. PENALTIES: Any person who willfully violates any of the provisions of this Ordinance or policies shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of Five Hundred ($500.00) dollars, or to imprisonment for a period not to exceed Ninety (90) days, or to both such fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the Court.
- Section 10. SEVERABILITY: Should any section, clause or provision of this Ordinance be declared by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, the same shall not affect the validity of the Ordinances as a whole or any part thereof other than the section, clause or provision of this Ordinance declared by such Court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid.
- Section 11. EFFECTIVE DATE: This ordinance shall take immediate effect upon publication in a newspaper of general circulation.

I, Linda R. Choate, Clerk for the City of Romulus do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an Ordinance adopted at the regular meeting of the Romulus City Council held on the 4th day of August, 1986.

Romulus receives bonus

Lower interest rates allowed the Michigan Department of Transportation to save approximately $1 million and pass that savings along to the city of Romulus when state trunkline bonds were refinanced. State Representative James Kosteva announced that Romulus will receive a "bonus" of $12,295 this year which will either be sent to the city or deducted from the next debt service payment.

DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES

HAZARDOUS WASTE DIVISION

P.O. BOX 30038

LANSING, MICHIGAN 48909

NOTICE OF RECEIPT OF AN OPERATING LICENSE RENEWAL APPLICATION FOR A HAZARDOUS WASTE FACILITY

On June 18, 1982, Wayne Disposal was issued a hazardous waste facility operating license pursuant to the Michigan Hazardous Waste Management Act, 1979 PA 64, as amended. That license expired on June 18, 1986. On June 17, 1986, the Department of Natural Resources received an operating license renewal application from the company.

Wayne Disposal operates a hazardous waste landfill facility. The facility is located at 49350 North I-94 Service Drive in Belleville, Wayne County, Michigan.

Section 24 of Act 64 requires the Department to process a company's initial operating license application once it is complete, within 140 days of receipt. The Department strives to process an operating license renewal application within the same time frame.

Department staff are currently reviewing the Wayne Disposal application to see if it is complete. A public hearing on the application and the department's proposed licensing decision will be held prior to re-issuance or denial.

If the application is found to be incomplete, the missing information will be requested from the applicant and Wayne County will be notified. As soon as the missing information is provided by the applicant, the Department will immediately proceed with its technical review of the application.

A notice will appear in this publication approximately 30 days prior to the actual date of the hearing.

The company's application may be reviewed at the Department of Natural Resources, Hazardous Waste Division, P.O. Box 30038, 1st Floor, South Ottawa Building, Lansing, Michigan 48909 and Wayne County Health Department, Division of Environmental Health, 3669 Metro Place Mall, Wayne, Michigan 48184.

Copies of the application may also be ordered from the Hazardous Waste Division at the address listed above for the cost of reproduction (approximately $247.00).

The Hazardous Waste Division permit engineer for this application is Peter Quackenbush, who can be reached at 517-373-2730.

To receive future departmental notifications regarding this facility, contact Alice Landin in the Hazardous Waste Division at 517-373-2730 and ask to be put on the mailing list for the Wayne Disposal operating license re-application.

Boy saves grandfather from explosion

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

Layne Valade was always kidded by his relatives for being big for his age. That size, and a considerable amount of personal courage, paid off for the 11-year-old Niagara Street resident recently as he rescued himself and his grandfather from a burning automobile just seconds before it exploded into flames.

Valade and his 58-year-old grandfather, George Lloyd, were returning from a trip to the boy's uncle house last Monday afternoon after a day of grass cutting and yard work. As they were completing a left-hand turn on Van Born and Venoy roads in their 1981 Ford Fairmont, their car was struck by a van from behind. While admitting that the experience was frightening, Valade reported that his only thought was to "get out of there."

"The guy got us from behind and we spun into another vehicle and onto the edge of the road," Valade recalled of the incident. "I tried to get out of my door and I couldn't get it open. Pa said 'could you get out my door?'"

"I opened the door and pushed him out. He landed on his knees. I turned around and the trunk exploded. Then the gas tank exploded."

Police reports indicate that both were outside of the car for only about 30 seconds when the lawnmower in the trunk and gas tank burst into flames, completely destroying the automobile. Valade, who was only about five feet from the vehicle, escaped injury while his grandfather, who was farther away, is being treated for a bruise to his hip and whiplash.

The incident also involved two other vehicles making a four-car pile-up. Today, both Valade and Lloyd look back on the incident with gratitude and assuredly admit that the incident could only be termed a miracle.

"We always used to tease Layne about being so big," said Laurie Valade, the mother of her 5-foot, 4-inch, 120-pound 11-year-old son. "We're not going to be teasing him now. We see now why the Lord made him so big. He knew he would need it someday."

A sixth-grader next year at the Taft-Galloway School in Wayne, Valade isn't shy in describing the incident and he's not expecting a hero's welcome either. But one thing is certain, the youth's grandfather has given his grandson the suitable title of "hero" as he relates the miraculous event.

"He was just so thankful. My dad is really proud of him," said Laurie Valade. "He told everyone . . . the ambulance driver, the police, the doctors, the nurses . . . everyone."

Railroad 'blows whistle'

Norfolk and Western officials announced in a letter to City Clerk Linda Choate its specifications for train whistles.

"Our regulations require that train crews begin a specified distance prior to reaching a railroad grade crossing to sound four blasts from the engine whistle - two longs, one short and one long. While this may be disturbing, it will alert the motorists and possibly save their life," railroad officials said.

The letter followed a communication stating there were some discrepancies in the above procedure according to local residents who were annoyed by what they felt were longer and louder whistles.

A vote of gratitude

Todd Nado came home last week. It took a mountain of paperwork, a ton of red tape and finally, the unrelenting intervention of Congressman William D. Ford, but Todd was finally released from a torment which nearly destroyed him, mentally and physically.

Todd is the young man whose story we told last year, when his battle to leave the Navy became public. Todd had eagerly entered the Navy upon his graduation from Romulus High School. Serving his country had long been one of his goals, and he joined the service with the reluctant blessing of his family.

While on a California naval base, Todd was the victim of a homosexual assault. He was left for dead in an alley after suffering 55 stab wounds by his attacker—a fellow sailor, stationed on the same base.

Todd spent five months in the hospital, recovering from the attack, and then intermittent visits to hospitals so that plastic surgeons might attempt to correct the scars left on his neck and body. During this time, the Navy launched an inquiry into the incident, but Todd's assailant was never found.

Todd's physical recovery progressed bet-

Never on Saturday

During the past few months I have been following the investigation into the weekend closing of auto dealerships with a great deal of interest.

Testimony has been taken, charges have been made and each group has placed the blame where they believe it should be laid—in the hands of the other. No matter who will ultimately be found to wear the "white hats" and the "black hats," I do not think anyone will be able to successfully explain to me why I can't buy a car on Wednesday night or Saturday afternoon.

I experienced a personal dilemma last year when I attempted to purchase a new car in the Motor City area. My previous work schedule called for me to work two evenings a week—coincidentally the evenings when the dealerships were open. Needless to say, having a day off on Saturday was not much help.

On three Saturdays I drove around from new car lot to lot peering though closed doors into darkened showrooms to select a car. Fortunately, I received an unexpected day off prior to a holiday and I rushed to the showroom with my checkbook in hand. Alas, the showroom was closed because the salespeople had voted to extend the holiday by another day. Several other disappointed, disgruntled and bewildered potential customers wandered around the car lot and peered through the showroom windows with me.

How ironic, I thought. Here I am ready to spend a considerable sum of money on a new car and I cannot even get into the showroom to finalize a deal. My vintage "classic" car was growing older and more feeble by the day and the need to replace it was becoming more urgent. Yet, because of my work schedule (which incidentally provided me with the money to purchase a new car) I was prevented me from finalizing a deal.

I solved my dilemma by taking time off from work to purchase the car. Incidentally, there is no rebate to the customer for wages lost when buying a new car.

Now, I have a more flexible schedule and when the time comes to purchase another vehicle, I won't have the same dilemma. But, others will continue to experience the problem if some changes aren't made in the operating hours of auto dealerships.

Realistically, society today operates on a six and one-half day schedule. Weekend work is often mandatory for employees of the major auto producers, the people behind the counters of the fast food restaurants, drive-ins, department stores, super markets, service stations and many other businesses. Employees probably would choose to work 9 to 5 on Monday through Friday, but that isn't realistic when Johnny wants a Big Mac on Saturday afternoon, Mom needs groceries at 9 p.m. on Tuesday and Dad wants a fill-up and oil change on Sunday.

I am certain that, if a vote were taken, the overwhelming results would be an emphatic "no" for weekend and evening work hours but an equally emphatic "yes" would be recorded by those who want services provided on weekends and evenings.

On a personal basis, I enjoy being home with my family on the weekends just like the auto dealership employees and the local police and firefighters do. However, I have to balance my personal needs with the reality that many important activities are scheduled on the weekends. That's why you'll see me visiting a block party on Sunday afternoon, a dedication ceremony on Saturday morning, a political gathering on Saturday and the preview of a model airplane show on Sunday afternoon.

News doesn't happen from 9 to 5 on weekdays, just as people don't get hungry, or go shopping or buy gasoline at those same hours. Like it or not, the country, including the Motor City, operates almost around the clock six days a week and only slows down its pace on Sundays.

If the dealership employees don't want to change their hours and respond to the needs of the buying public, I wonder whether they would be willing to refrain from patronizing any business or services that are open on Saturdays. It does seem fair to me—if they are unwilling to sell cars on Saturdays, they should also use the same criteria to choose not to buy groceries, clothing or hamburgers from other places of business no Saturdays. Is that too simple?

An analytical thought

I have always had a fascination for how things are put together and what makes them work.

Parents, of course, are not always enthusiastic about children's discovery of such mysteries. I remember one particular incident involving Mother Willett and Ma Bell which made an indelible impression on me.

The telephone had always interested me and I had occasionally tinkered with "the ringer box," screwdriver in hand. But this time, I was somewhat bored, and decided to see what makes the telephone tick...er, ring. This was, of course, in the day when the phone company felt that phone repair was their function, don't touch.

As I was immersed in the wires, ascertaining the endless possibilities of attaching and re-attaching wires, tracing the path of circuits and solving other such great mysteries of life, I managed, it seemed, to send a signal to the phone folks that someone was phone-tinkering. The ringing door bell was answered by my unsuspecting mother, and very soon a phone repairman and my embarrassed parent stood at my bedroom door. What followed was a very stern lecture, and an even sterner warning.

Phil Donahue, a man whom you tend to love or hate, has been trying to find out what humankind is all about in almost the same manner. During his television talk show, he has, during the years, charmed us, challenged us, angered, informed, entertained us, and most of all, made us think. In his book, "The Human Animal," and his new series, "Phil Donahue Examines the Human Animal," he continued to hit all our psychological buttons.

Donohue is helping us search for answers to the question, "What makes us tick." How critical it is for each of us to develop the mental skills allowing us to take apart a situation and try to figure out what makes it what it is. It is easier to accept things as they are, accept matters as presented, and not question. When we decide adversity is our enemy, conflict is unacceptable, challenging is not polite, then we doom ourselves to an existence of mediocrity.

Only when we are willing to ask questions, argue our position, yet accept a line of thought not our own because its logic is superior, only then will we learn and grow. Our minds must be like a doctor's scalpel during exploratory surgery, like an archeologist exploring a digging in the land of the pharaohs or like a watchmaker disassembling a grandfather's pocket watch. Each searches for answers, each looks for a clue to what was, is or will be.

An analytical mind holds promise that tomorrow can be better, that that which threatens us can be dissuaded, that what might be, will be. Perhaps what we should fear most is the docile, silent, passive people who would follow unquestioningly those who would lead us to destruction.

Perhaps we should revel rather than remonstrate with the questioning teenager and the challenging young men and women climbing the corporate ladder.

We need those who would risk ridicule, the appearance of foolishness and failure for the chance of finding an answer. From their kind come the Edisons and Einsteins, Fords and Firestones, Marconis and Madame Curies. As for me, I guess I'm just a frustrated phone repairman.

See you next week. Ring, Ring,...Tick, Tick

Salesman to be Red Wing trainer

By JOHN KIBILKO
ANP Staff Writer

Since he first laced up a pair of skates at age 5, Larry Wasyon has dreamed of playing for the Detroit Red Wings.

Perhaps Wasyon won't exactly be playing for the Red Wings when the season opens in October but, in his own words, he'll be doing the next best thing.

Wasyon was hired last week as an assistant trainer for the Wings. The 27-year-old Redford native officially begins his duties Sept. 1, although he admitted that he's already doing "little odds and ends" for the NHL club. Wasyon is the cousin of Wayne businessman John Rogin, owner of John Rogin Buick, and worked for Rogin until last December.

"It's really a dream come true," Wasyon said of his new position. "Since I was a kid, I've dreamed of playing for the Wings. This is the next best thing."

Wasyon wrangled himself into a position to be considered for the assistant trainer job by frequenting Red Wing practices. After getting to know some veteran Red Wing trainers, Wasyon offered a resume. When an opening came up, Wasyon's name was at the top of the list.

As far as experience as a trainer goes, Wasyon said it's difficult to get any on-the-job training for his present position.

"It's hard to really get any experience when there's only 21 teams (in the NHL)," Wasyon said. "But I've been playing hockey since I was 5, so I know hockey."

Wasyon also has a physical education background from Henry Ford Community College. While Head Trainer Mark Brown, also hired last week, will handle the job of tending to the players, Waylon will have his hands full seeing to it that all the team's equipment is in order and in the city that it's supposed to be in.

"I'll have to handle the equipment, order equipment and prepare the equipment," Wasyon said. "I'll also do things like pick up the other team's trainers and equipment from the airport."

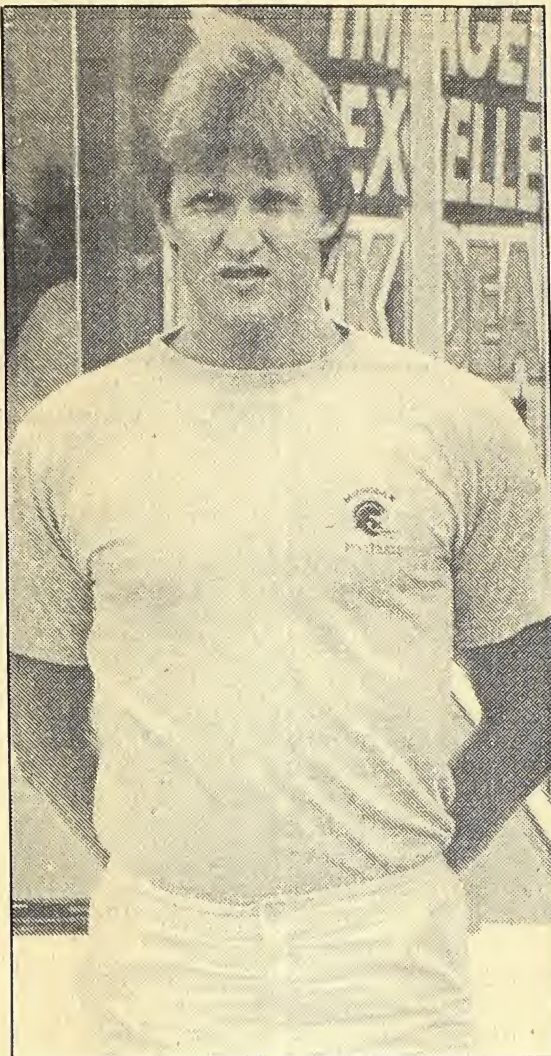

Wasyon, who still skates regularly, won't accompany the Red Wings on all of their road trips. But it will be his job to make sure that the equipment which travels with the club is in proper working order. And, despite the Wings' dismal performance in recent years, Wasyon is optimistic about their chances in 1986-87.

"This year, they're going to be good," Wasyon said very somber-faced. "(New coach) Jacques Demers has a positive attitude, and they're going places. There's a really good atmosphere."

Wasyon, whose career was hampered somewhat when an ankle injury forced him to miss a Junior Red Wings training camp during his senior year in high school, also has the right attitude when it comes to his choice in pizza. Red Wing owner Mike Ilitch also owns Little Caesars Pizza.

"I like Little Caesars," Wasyon gushed. "I honestly do. I definitely like it over Domino's."

Ouch, Tom Monahan.

Dr. Lawson, dentist of Detroit, was in town yesterday. He has made arrangements to visit Belleville on the 1st and 3rd Tuesdays of every month when he can be seen at the Belleville Hotel. our readers who are in need of any kind of dental work should give him a call.

Mrs. Cornwell of Hand Station lost a hand satchel at camp-meeting containing about $2.25 in money, a silver bowed spectacles, a neck handkerchief and an old ladies cap. The finder will communicate with Rev. L.C. York. It is thought they were left in cottage no. 12 at the camp ground.

A broken dash board and thrills and a scared horse were the items for a runaway last evening. Dick Hope (Maggie Hope's father) was the only man hurt and he very slightly.

Mrs. Preece who had her leg broken two weeks ago is impro-

Ten Dollars Fine - This fine is imposed upon all who ride or drive over any bridge in town faster than a walk.

Belleville will furnish nearly all the schools in Van Buren with teachers this fall and also some outside of town.

Fred Winger while working in Nowland's sawmill at Romulus yesterday had his thumb cut off.

Quite a number went from here last Friday on the excursion to Detroit to see the baseball game between Chicago and Detroit.

The Tyler Street Sunday School with Belleville and a number of schools are to hold a picnic on the camp ground Saturday September 4th.

All are never ready for rain. Some farmers do not want to see wet weather now for they wish to harvest their beans.

capitol column

What happens to a minor in temporary custody of a police agency who needs medical treatment when his or her parents cannot be located to approved the treatment? As it was, if a hospital paid strict attention to the law, there could have been no treatment.

A bill approved by the Legislature corrects this possibly very serious situation by allowing the police agency, with the consent of the minor, to authorize emergency treatment or routine, nonsurgical care when the minor's parents or guardian cannot and when the treatment is considered necessary for the child.

These types of situations do occur. Police agencies do take into custody, for various reasons, minors who need medical treatment but whose parents are difficult or impossible to contact.

While local hospitals were very unlikely to refuse emergency treatment in such cases, and certainly not in life-threatening situations, they well could have, on the advice of legal counsel, refused, to provide non-emergency treatment without parental permission.

Under the new law, the police agency would have the legal authority to see to it that the child receives needed treatment.

They're third best in state

Rebuilding

Huron High is hurting . . . again

With a handful of 20 some players turning out for the first week of practice, New Boston Huron head football coach Tom LeBeau has his job cut out for him this year. LeBeau used three words to describe this year's prospects: Green. Green. And green. And, you know it's difficult being green. In a league dominated by Monroe Catholic Central and Monroe Jefferson in the past, LeBeau and the Chiefs can only dream of championships.

Realistically, LeBeau would "just like to survive in the league this year." "We had 20 players turn out for practice this first week and you really can't assess what you have," said LeBeau whose Chiefs finished with a 2-7 over-all record a year ago. "We just don't have the numbers and when you don't have quantity that can cause problems." Huron has been living on "sheer determination" in the past and has managed to field some respectable teams.

If the Chiefs follow tradition, then they will give the best a battle, but don't look for them near the top of the standings in November. However, LeBeau does view the title race as a "dogfight" and a "more balanced league" this year. Huron will field a team that could surprise the title pretenders thanks to the Umin twins - John and Jim. John, a 5-10, 155-pound senior, will be returning to the quarterback slot while brother Jim will be utilized as a flanker or running back. The offensive backfield also will feature fullback Len Ziegler, a rugged 5-9, 180-pound junior who is following in the footsteps of brother, Dan, a former All-Area and All-League pick. Running back Jon Tackett, a 5-10, 175-pound junior who was the back-up ballcarrier to Mark Simpson a year ago, has earned the starting assignment this year. "On paper it looks pretty good, but there is no depth at all in the backfield or otherwise," noted LeBeau who is entering his ninth season. See HURON, B-2

Accent Signs wins Canton 'A' title

Exploding for three runs in the fourth inning, the Accent Signs women's softball team posted a convincing 11-3 victory over Jimmy's Next Door to capture the 1986 Canton Parks and Recreation Class "A" softball championship. The champs received two hits each from Dana Lindon, Kelly Daley and Michelle Minor and also a homer from Sue Libby to pave their way past Jimmy's and to the title. The 3-run fourth inning broke open the close game. In winning the double elimination tournament, Accent Signs defeated Jimmy's Next Door twice and also turned back a highly-regarded Bodes Restaurant.

Scramble

Wolverine title 'is up for grabs'

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

In a league that usually produces at least one, sometimes two Class A state playoff teams, the Wolverine "A" Conference has earned a reputation as an excellent football league.

Dearborn Fordson, Trenton and Monroe have muscled their way into post-season playoffs in the past and all three teams appear glory-bound this season.

This year, however, could be different. Watch for Wayne and Belleville to make their move among the leaders.

Wayne has a hard core nucleus of players who are ready to move up the league standings, but Belleville appears to be an unlikely candidate to be tagged as a title hopeful, especially glancing back at the Tigers 0-9 mark of a year ago.

Belleville hopes to turn things around this year thanks to newly-hired head coach Dave McCarney who is returning to the area after coaching in Naples, Florida.

Michigan Tech and Kent State University before accepting the position in Naples.

Some 40 prospective players showed up last week to greet the new coach whose staff this year will include Skip Summer, Sam Villa, and Jerry McDer-“McCarney is returning to Belleville from Florida. He served as an assistant coach to former head coach, now athletic director, Mike Colletta.”

Carney served as former head coach Michael Colletta's (now athletic director) assistant coach and he will be replacing Pete O'Neill who stepped down after the 1985 campaign. McCarney had coached at mitt. Look for the Tigers to utilize the "wishbone" this season in hopes of getting on the scoreboard and in the winning column according to Summer. "When you usually have two See BELLEVILLE, Page 2-B teams from the league that qualify for the state playoffs and a couple of others who are as good," Summer noted, "you know that you're in a tough league. But, I see the league as a 'dogfight' this year, and we won't be a pushover for anyone."

The Tigers, despite the tough schedule which includes an opening day date with defending Inter Lakes Conference champ and state playoff qualifier, Westland John Glenn (Friday, Sept. 5 at home), should be a much improved club.

Quarterback Steve Ostrowski, a 5-9, 150-pound senior signal-caller, has the experience to lead the Tigers. He'll have at his disposal in the backfield Greg Hardmon, a 5-11, 165-pound senior who was voted all-league as a receiver a year ago, but Greg is being readied as a running back to fully exploit his quickness and speed.

The backfield will also feature a Florida transplant, Calvin Alexander, who moved to the school district last winter and will be using his 5-11, 170-pound frame as a running back.

"Calvin has had some experience and he looks like an excellent candidate," Summer said.

Brent Price, a 5-9, 160-pound senior and Dan Brown, 6-4, 240-pounds, also a senior, are vying for the starting berth at fullback and both have the credentials to develop into outstanding blockers and ballcarriers. Another letter-winner, Moe Smith, is returning to the backfield which means for the first time in recent years the Tigers have the look of experience.

The Tiger coaching staff also has J. P. Fallen, a 5-10, 175-pound halfback, who is out to make it in the offensive backfield.

The Tiger offensive line is laden with experience thanks to the return of center Vaughn Stoltz (6-1, 185), guards Matt Bracken (5-11, 185) and Bill

Sparrow (5-10, 155), along with tackles Jeff Budd (6-1, 175) and the trio of Frank Hardin (5-10, 238), John Barlage (6-1, 170) and Jeff Sykes (5-10, 180) who are seeking the starting assignment at the other tackle slot.

The Tigers have two candidates for the tight end post in 6-1, 175 Ray Lewis and Blaine Armstrong (6-1, 175) and Jim Hicks (5-9, 150) and Andy Gohl (5-9, 150) are battling it out for the split end position.

The Tigers have gone through some tough and rough times in the past.

And they definitely see better things in the future.

Grapefruit Majors' playoff champs

Gibson is MVP

Wayne's champ adds another gem to its crown

Adding to an impressive victory at the prestigious Len Anderson Memorial Invitational, Gorilla Engines stopped Station Lounge in a best 2 of 3 series to capture the City of Wayne softball championship.

Dave Gibson, a first baseman who batted a phenomenal .833 with 24 runs batted in, was voted the team's Most Valuable Player for the 1986 season.

Gibson's fielding performance also was outstanding.

Wayne, the men's first division champs, finished with a 13-3 won-lost record for the second season in the row. They also captured the playoff title with back-to-back victories over Al's Market, 6-5, and Jake's Lounge, 19-9. The team also won the A. J.'s Dugout Free Press tournament in Lake City, MI in early July.

Canton crowns playoff champs

It's all over in the Canton Parks and Recreation softball leagues.

Plymouth Rock I and Tamarack Greens were crowned playoff champs after a thrilling tourney series over the weekend.

Plymouth Rock I captured the men's first division playoff championship by defeating Rusty Nail, 12-9, in the finale.

Manager Marty Rapson's team received a superb hitting performance from Dean Alexander who latched on to three hits while teammates Ralph Martin, Tim Rapson and Mark Libke collected two each.

A crucial 4-run fifth inning turned the tide and gave the champ the decisive victory. Plymouth Rock reached the finals with earlier victories over Stan's Market and Canton Sports.

Tamarack Greens claimed the men's second division playoffs with a 6-0 shut-out over runner-up Oakview Party Store. Manager David Stephens club was paced by Alan Reynolds and Mark Schultz who each contributed triples and Michael Simonds came through with a run-producing double.

Tamarack Greens, which posted a 10-4 record during the regular season, advanced all the way to the finals via victories over Epoxy Systems, Superbowl, Canton Bowling & Trophy, and Oakview Party Store twice.

The second division champs broke open a scoreless game with three runs in the fourth inning and two more in the sixth inning. Oakview Party Store finished a fine season with the runner-up trophy. Manager Chris Drake's team advanced with a string of victories that included triumphs over Mack's Machine, Ventcon, Ojibay Engineering, and Tri-Star.

"There was a lot of exciting ball played during the playoffs and the entire tournament," noted Bob Dates, recreation supervisor, "and it was a fine climax to an excellent recreation softball season."

The stroke of the pen tells it all

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

When Marjorie Westergaard meets someone for the first time, she's not concerned with how well he's dressed or how much money he has in his bank-book. Intelligence isn't a big part of her first impression, either.

No, she's more interested in how he crosses his t's, loops his l's and dots his i's.

Westergaard is a handwriting

Handwriting expert used in business

analyst and has been using her detective skills in writing to reveal people's personality for about 15 years. While she only went into the business as a hobby due to her interest in the subject, her hobby has turned into a business, and a booming one as well.

"It depends on who you talk to as to who believes in handwriting analysis. There are some people who believe in it and swear by it, and there are some businesses that won't hire people without first talking to me," Westergaard said of her business.

Westergaard explained that the majority of her clients are large and small businesses which depend on her skills to screen potential employees. She reported that one manager in one of the three major auto companies sends her samples of job seekers' writing on a regular basis to see if the prospective employees will fulfill the job requirements and fit into the company atmosphere.

"Handwriting tells the emotional makeup of a person. It tells if they are a stable individual or if they are people-oriented or if they will work well with facts and figures. You can pick out managers, secretaries, even salesmen through their handwriting," explained Westergaard.

When analysing, Westergaard looks at the shape of the letters, slant, spacing, proportions, margins and the overall neatness of the writing to see how organized a person is, how friendly or how shy he is. Handwriting is like a fingerprint, Westergaard said, with each person having a writing "print" that is distinct from everyone else.

So what does writing tell? Westergaard offered a few hints.

- Stable people. Their writing is generally legible, narrow spacing, very even letters. The words seem to flow in their writing, Westergaard, never being choppy or running up and down the page.

- Friendly people. They tend to have a forward slant, more loops and the strokes on the lines come forward and then up.

- Managers. Their writing is almost always legible, firm on the paper, t's should be crossed, down strokes are straight instead of curved. "When you look at someone who is a manager, you see good form and some amount of pressure to indicate a firm person, someone who can communicate," said Westergaard.

- Salesmen. These people are usually people-oriented, Westergaard said, and their writing is usually very loopy. An honest salesman can be picked out by his a's, o's, g's and d's, she said. If these letters are circular, instead of looped, these people tend to be honest and sincere, she said.

- Non-committing people. These people usually have illegible handwriting. Usually these people can "flow with the tide," Westergaard said, and can adapt to various situations.

- Shy people. These individuals usually have no slant in their letters and write very up-and-down, Westergaard said. More often than not, these people are very hard to get to know.

- Successful people. Those writers who boast of a backward slant are quite often the most successful, she said. These people usually look out for number one and think of themselves before anything else.

- Organized people. These people many times write on rulers or lines to gain perfection.

As for signatures, Westergaard said the way someone writes his name, and the way he writes a theme paper may reveal even more about his personality than a mere study of his loops and slants.

"If the signature follows the rest of the writing, that person is normal and natural, and he's not hiding anything," said Westergaard. "If the person signs his name different than he writes, he usually acts one way in public, but if you get him in private, he may be a totally different person."

"Sometimes people change their slant when writing, as well. This means they may be publically outgoing but privately very shy," she added.

Although it reveals most every aspect of the personality, handwriting cannot predict the future, Westergaard said. Many of her clients who want an analysis performed think of handwriting as an offshoot of astrology, a way of thinking that is very misleading, according to the handwriting expert.

"When it comes to identification, handwriting distinguishes one person from another. It's as distinct as fingerprints," said Westergaard. "But it can't tell the future, only how well you will cope with something if it comes up."

To do her analysis, Westergaard asks for a variety of handwriting samples - neat, sloppy and in between. The "sloppier" writing is usually most revealing, however, she said, as "we all can be on good behavior some of the time."

As for the future popularity of the art of handwriting analysis, Westergaard said it still remains a very controversial topic. In New Jersey, she said as an example, a bill has been proposed in the state legislature which would ban the use of handwriting analysis by employers along with polygraph tests.

Nevertheless, Westergaard reported that the handwriting work continues to pile in with more and more people wanting to find out just how much of themselves they reveal each time they sign their name. And, Westergaard contends, time after time the customer leaves shocked after reading her in-depth report of their writing seeing their personality spelled out in most every aspect of the report.

But that analysis comes with a price, Westergaard said, with a typical business report averaging about $100, and even more for the personal, individual study.

Area business leaders feature bizarre, mirthful signatures

Dennis D'Arcy

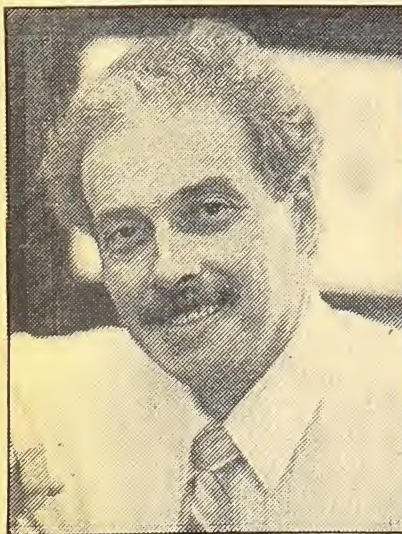

When Dennis D'Arcy signs his name he is often times asked for identification. When he provides such proof that his written name is, in fact, the real thing, his real personality shines through.

D'Arcy is the treasurer of the Wayne-Westland Federal Credit Union. His smiley-face signature has become a well-known mark in the area of the ever-optimistic financial leader and D'Arcy is proud of it.

"All of the remarks about my signature are usually positive. When they ask me if I really sign my name that way, I show them my driver's license," D'Arcy explained. "It's mirthful. People kind of get a kick out of it."

The smiley face started in the 1960s, D'Arcy said, and was inspired by a fellow businessman who used musical bars to set him aside from the rest of the bunch. Today, D'Arcy and the smile go hand in hand.

"Now when people see the happy face they see me," D'Arcy said. "I think it shows my disposition . . . I've worked hard at keeping this positive mental attitude over the years."

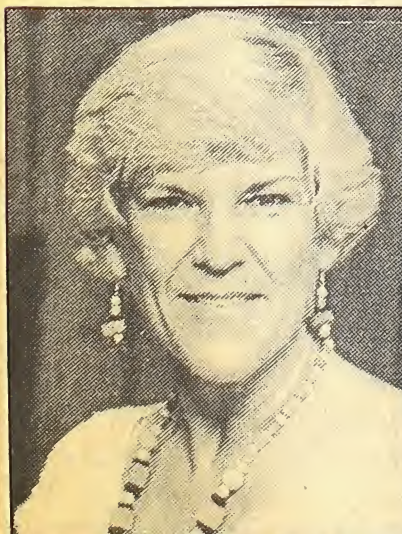

Allen Brooks

Allen Brooks' neat pen strokes are not always as legible as his signature appears, according to his staff at Allen Brooks Studio on Merriman Road in Westland. In fact, he has been known to write notes and later be unable to decipher his own notations, they said.

However, Brooks, a left-hander, ordinarily has a clear, legible handwriting for his business correspondence and his work with various clubs, groups and civic organizations.

Brooks has operated his Westland studio for eight years and has been a member of the Chamber of Commerce for five years, now serving as its president. He also is secretary of the Westland Rotary Club and was co-chairman of the Livonia-Westland School Millage Advisory Council.

He also is a past president of the Detroit Professional Photographers Association and a member of the Professional Photographers Associations of Michigan and of America. Brooks has received numerous honors for his photography including being judged twice as a top photographer in the state.

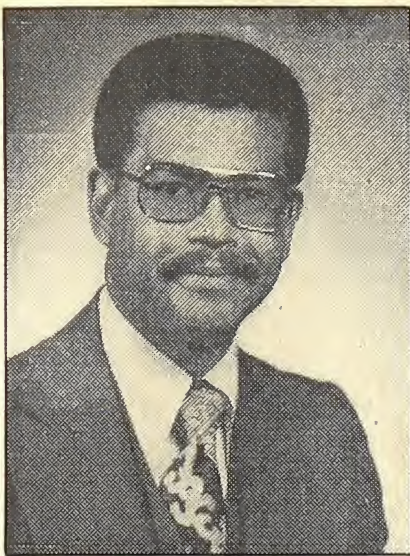

Beverly Stinehour

Although Beverly R. Stinehour doesn't believe that she has influenced many people - or gotten many votes - because of her signatures, the mayor of Belleville feels that she does possess a "strong signature."

"And it's original," says Stinehour, "difficult to forge."

Stinehour points out that she always includes her middle initial in her signature which is a "R" and her "e's" are written in a certain way, making them very difficult to duplicate.

"I like my signature because I believe it reflects me. As a person and as an individual, it's me."

Charles Chase

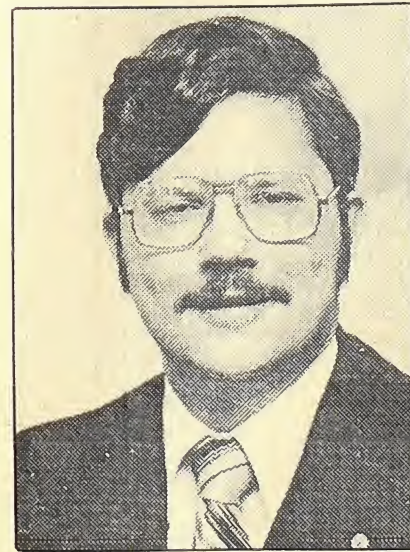

When Charles Chase, Jr., Inkster Branch Manager of National Bank of Detroit, signs his name most people say, "Okay, I'll take your word for it."

The bank manager and president of the Inkster Chamber of Commerce laughs at the reaction. He describes his signature as "the number 66 in a circle."

His signature was almost not published in this feature because a keyliner mistook it for a hastily scribbled number on a page.

The signature actually reads "C. Chase, Jr."

"Very seldom do I write out Charles Chase, Jr.," he said, explaining that at the bank his signature is required often and must be quickly produced. Chase also said it's important that his signature is not easily forged.

Bill Crane

"No question about it. People constantly comment about my signature. My regular handwriting is just as bad so I print most everything," said William Crane, 38, owner of Baum-Crane Funeral Home in Romulus, president of Romulus Central Business District Association and boardmember on the Chamber of Commerce in both Romulus and Huron Township.

He admits his handwriting has deteriorated since his college days but it wasn't until his job as manager of a funeral home in Battle Creek where the young kids would copy his signature on company checks that he began to "scribble" his name.

"There's no reason for it to be that bad. It does save time especially when you have to write 60-70 checks in a day. Many people will inquire what my name is and sometimes I have to print it underneath the signature. Basically, it's laziness more than anything," laughed Crane. For those who need assistance, his signature comprises the abbreviation for William-Wm, his middle initial A. and his last name, Crane.

Serving as administrative assistant to Westland Mayor Charles Griffin gives Ralph Tack plenty of opportunities to sign his name.

His usual neat and legible handwriting may lose a little quality when he is extremely busy, but day in and day out Tack's signature is easy to read.

Tack recalled that when interviewing for a job some years ago he discovered that the prospective employer had the handwriting of all of the applicants analyzed and made his determination based on the results. Although Tack admits to being somewhat skeptical at first, he and another applicant compared the findings of the analysis to the actual information about themselves and found some surprising accuracies. In addition to general characteristics, the handwriting expert also noted some health aspects revealed in the applicants' signatures.

Patricia Long and Terry Spurgeon exchange marriage vows

Patricia J. Long of Glenwood, Wayne, and Terry R. Spurgeon of Onsted were united in marriage June 121 at St. John's Lutheran Church.

The Rev. Robert Baer officiated at the ceremony.

The church was decorated with silk floral arrangements. The candleholders were accented with flower arrangements.

The bridal gown was white with short, puffy sleeves. The bride wore a hat made by her mother. The hat featured a lei made with the fresh flowers her brother brought from Hawaii.

Darla Krauss served as the maid of honor for the event. Bridesmaids were LeDesa Schultz and Char Huettner. Stacey Long was the flowergirl.

Dave Cremeans was the best man with Mark Behmer and Frank Putirka serving as groomsmen and Ken Long and Terry Lee Harmon as ushers.

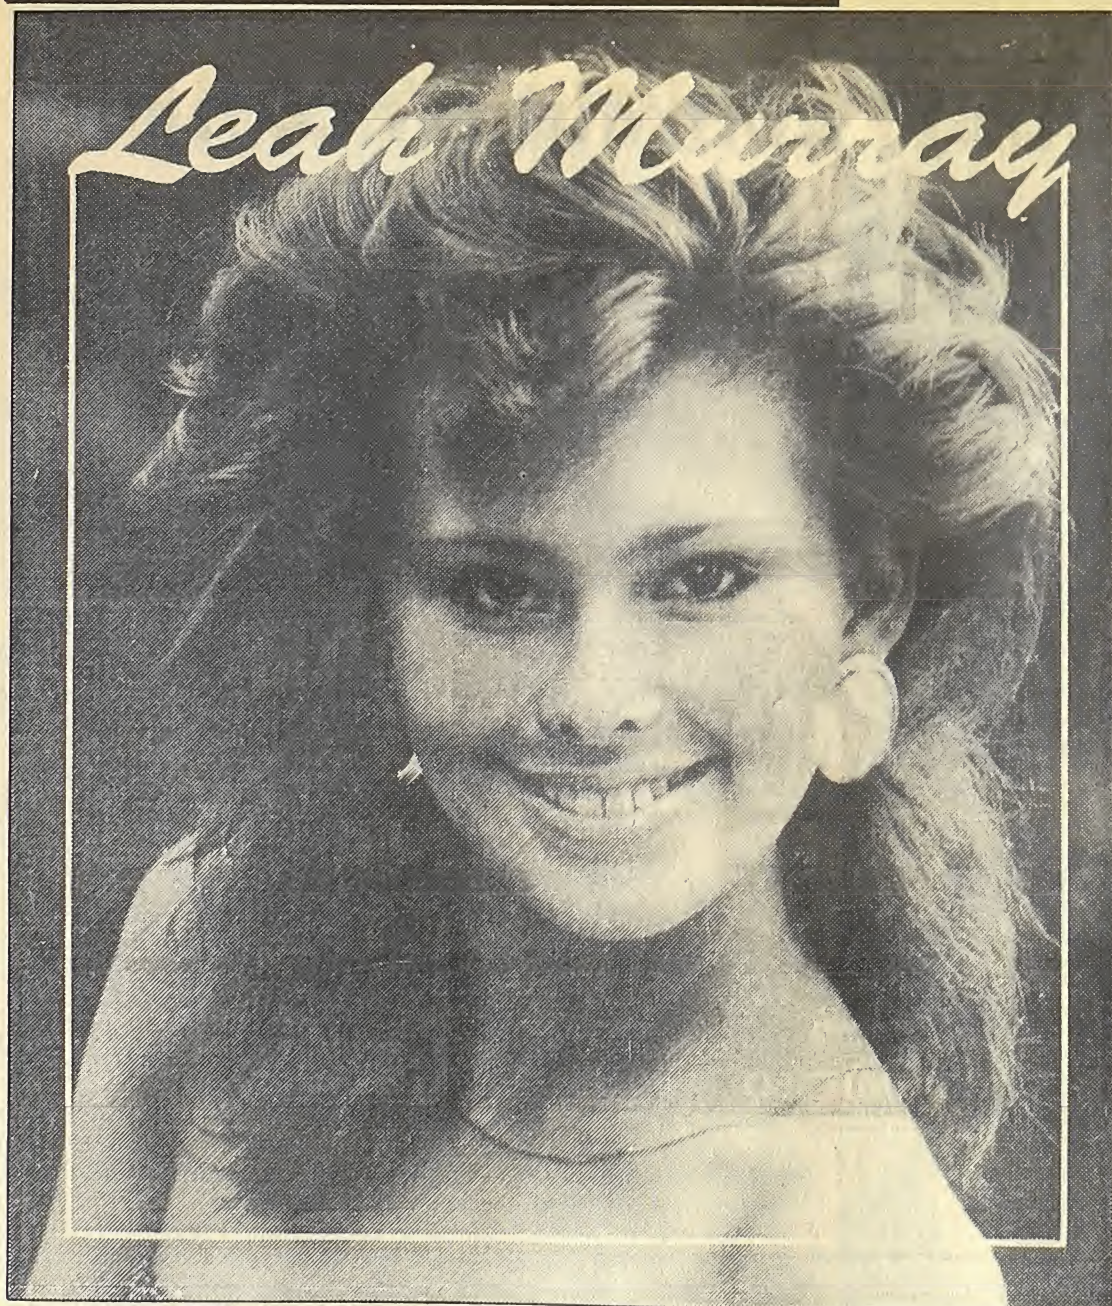

A reception followed at the UAW Local 735 hall in Belleville. More than 200 people attended the festivities.

The two traveled to Kings Island, Sea World and Gatlinburg for their honeymoon. They currently are living with the bride's parents.

The new bride is a graduate of the Michigan Lutheran Seminary High School and works at American Community Mutual Insurance Company of Livonia.

The groom is a graduate of Onsted High School and works as a tool and die apprentice at Birdsall Tool and Gage in Farmington Hills.

Model wants to be the best

Leah Marlana Murray enjoys beauty pageants and she enjoys modeling. But her participation in both is only because of a desire to help her family financially.

"I want to make enough money in modeling to send home $1 million some day," Murray said recently of her career.

And at age 17, the 1986 Belleville High School graduate may be well on her way to achieving that goal after just recently returning from the Michigan Miss Hawaiian Tropic State Finals as one of five finalist who will represent the state in the national pageant in Florida.

Although she has already boarded the plane and is vying for the national honors in the south, Leah stopped briefly from her schedule last week for a few words about her modeling career.

ASSOCIATED NEWSPAPERS: Tell us about your recent achievement.

MURRAY: It was the Miss Hawaiian Tropic State Finals held at the Holiday Inn Holidome in Romulus. There were 25 girls who competed and five finalists were selected. I'm now going to Daytona for the Hawaiian Tropic International Finalist. There were be 150 girls competing from all over the nation.

ANP: How did you get involved with this pageant?

MURRAY: I was in the midst of having an evening party for the Miss Michigan United Pageant and a man from International Satellite approached me and asked me if I wanted to be in the Miss Hawaiian Tropic contest.

What other pageants have you been involved in?

Model

MURRAY: I was in the Michigan Miss Charm Scholarship Pageant and I was in the Strawberry Queen Pageant and I was first runner-up.

ANP: When did you get into modeling?
MURRAY: Actually, I've been modeling since I was 12. As soon as I was 13 I was graduated from a modeling school already. Now that I've gotten my feet in the door, I'm progressing and meeting new people.

ANP: What made you get into the business?
MURRAY: I've always looked at magazines and saw how beautiful these women are and I've always to be different than anyone else. I just figured I'm ambitious and I want to make it.

It's not just the money – but that's part of it because I want to help my family out – but my main objective is to be recognized as one of the top models.

ANP: How hard is it to become a top model and what do you have to do to get recognized?
MURRAY: To be recognized you need to be ambitious and you need to have a personality and not just a "snooty" type people normally think of a model. You really do have to fight that stereotype. You need to be nice to everyone and always take up on a lead and don't just say well they'll come to me. Nobody wants you that bad. You have to make them want you.

ANP: How do models get that stereotype?
MURRAY: Actually when you're taught in modeling school, you are taught to walk stiff and look down on people. I feel that I don't walk like that, I've taken a more relaxed approach. Being nicer is a lot better way to get in the door.

ANP: What makes a good model?
MURRAY: Looks aren't everything because when you see on television a lady who is making money doing commercials, she's not beautiful because no one going to watch TV and say, 'Oh, my gosh she's a glamorous model and she's cleaning toilets.' I think it's personality wise and beauty is great but it's not necessarily needed.

ANP: Do you make much money at all of this?
MURRAY: So far all of my work has been voluntary, I haven't gotten paid yet. I work part time at the Belleville Big Boy and my mom gives my a lot of support and a lot of money.

ANP: What is your social life like?
MURRAY: Well, I have very few friends, probably about five or six at the most. I'm constantly on the go and I don't have a lot of time.

ANP: What does this current pageant mean for your career? Is this a big break for you?

MURRAY: It is a big break. I'm really glad to be in it because it's nationally recognized. You get a lot of visibility, recognition and exposure.

Murray said that the life of a young models peaks at age 25 and undergoes a 10-year lull until age 35. The recent Belleville High graduate said that beside modeling, she also is interested in broadcasting and acting. And she'll have enough chances to experiment with those careers this fall as she studies broadcasting at Eastern Michigan University.

wall street - week ahead

DEAR INVESTOR, IN MY OPINION: The Federal Reserve Board continues to add liquidity to the banking system. The new tax code that is being adopted by Congress will make tax shelters less attractive to investors. This may cause a rapid increase in interest bearing accounts, as funds are re-cycled from tax shelters less and long-term investments.

This increase could accelerate the need for substantial reserves. If this view becomes the common perception, it may be difficult to lower yields. For this week, interest rates will be flat to higher. Gold and silver prices may give a little ground.

For this week, the short-term traders will start the session as holders. By midweek, they will become sellers; selling into any market strength. Intermediate term traders will sit on the sidelines and hold their present positions. Long-term traders are moving to the sell side, and may begin to trim oil stock positions.

For this week, some early buying may add strength to the market. The market strength last week was more a function of few sellers, rather than aggressive buying. For this week, that function may begin to reverse, as traders get anxious to take profits.

The market does not appear to be any stronger this week than last week. Secondary issues did not participate in last week's rally, and may be a factor in any decline which occurs this week.

NOTE: Gold hits $391.40, the highest price since March 1985; U.S. car sales rose 7.4 percent in early August, but the gain was less than analysts expected in light of buyer incentives. Retail sales up .1 percent in July; Business inventories up .4 percent in June. MARKET "AVERAGES": DOW = 1755.60; TRANS = 756.10; UTIL = 211.25; NYA = 142.22; S&P = 247.15; VLIC = 233.75; OEX = 231.57; AMEX XMI = 356.61.

Family firms fight statistics

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

Nine out of 10 businesses today are likely to be family owned, but only three out of four of those same businesses will survive the passing from one generation to the next.

That finding comes from a study recently completed by the University of Michigan School of Business Administration. In the study, family-owned businesses failed for a variety of reasons, although typically poor planning and a lack of advance preparation were the culprit, according to Louis Wilson, administrative director for the department.

"A part of the problem is that the heirs are not fully prepared to deal with the financial problems that are thrown on them in family-owned businesses," Wilson explained. "Inheritance taxes eat up a big chunk of the income while often times family members have not been properly trained in the business operations."

Wilson said that most family-owned businesses die after the first generation with their founders. This happens, he said, because the founder many times is reluctant to give up the power position in the company and fails to relate important information - although confidential for the business - to his sons and daughters who he expects will continue the business after his death.

"A lot of times the founder does not even let other people have the power to sign the checks, open the mail, hire and fire people. The children and other employees never receive this kind of power so they don't know some of the biggest happenings of the company," Wilson said.

Besides ignorance, family feuds and squabbles many times destroy the family businesses as they tear apart the lines of communication and destroy a sense of togetherness.

John Nichols, co-owner of Lots of Nichols in Wayne, explained that communication and a sense of family togetherness are the key components to the successful family-owned and operated business his family has created. Nichols admitted that an absence of family fights and disagreements would be unrealistic, however, he added, the family-talking about opening up a karate supply store.

"We have our disagreements but we are all man enough to come back and talk about it. We always come back together to work things out. If this business ever comes to the point where we are fighting because of the business, then forget the business," Nichols added.

While feuds and fights can often times be avoided in the family-business scene, Wilson explained that a lack of knowledge about the specific skills of a business can never be solved by "talking things out."

think of their successors as plan to phase themselves out explained Wilson.

While eventually this phasing out would mean a complete removal from the business, Wilson cautioned that phasing out doesn't mean left out. Wilson said that many founders have transferred the complete operations portion of a business to children while still retaining a seat on the board directors and still being involved in the long-term decision making process.

ANP illustration by Dave Juchacz

Wilson reported that highly-technical operations such as machine shops and tool and die businesses are at highest risk for failure due to their highly-skilled labor characteristics. However, Wilson added, no business is immune to failure due to a lack of knowledge as business know-how is the key to success in any operation.

owned business will be successful only after all members of the operation realize that success is contingent upon working together.

"One of the toughest problems for us is splitting up the hours so it's fair and one person is not working all the time," Nichols said of his karate supply and trophy store owned by his two brothers, his father and himself. "We've always been a close family so we were always

The university professor recommended that business owners begin a phasing-out process from founder to children during the normal retirement age, a process that should take time and allow both parties to exchange information and fall back on each other during times of trouble.

"I think the age for this is really up to the individual, but the late 60's is a good age. The older founders should begin to

To aid family-owned business owners in the task of phasing the operations down the family line, the University of Michigan will offer a course titled "Succession Planning in Private Business: Passing Ownership and Management to the Next Generation." The lectures will be presented Sept. through Oct. 3.

Lon's runs on cooperation

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

Pat and Lon Singleton operate their family-owned business as a cooperative effort.

"I do the office work and he does everything else," quipped Pat Singleton, one half of the dynamic-duo business owners of Westland-based television and video recorder repair shop, "Lon's TV Service Center."

"Definitely he's the boss. There's no doubt about it."

Things have been running smoothly for the business since it opened in 1972. A pre-opening agreement set the rules for the man-and-wife partnership and a little love and compassion have paved the road ever since, according to Pat.

"He always allows me to input my ideas into the business. But, my area is strictly in the office. He runs the shop and repairs the televisions," Pat said.

As family-owned businesses typically are passed down from generation to generation, the Singleton family may be ruled an exception.

"Our children chose not to be involved in the business. They have all gone into different things, but they have sort of taken in the trend of becoming entrepreneurs themselves," Pat explained.

The business owners have accepted the fact that all three of their children have gone into different fields under no pressure from their parents to participate in the business. One of their sons living in Florida has developed into a chip off the old block, however, Pat said, and has established a business of his own in Florida.

What's kept the man-and-wife business owners still man and wife under the severe pressures of owning a small business? Both admit that communication and togetherness were their salvation.

"Certainly communication is one thing, but to be able to sit down and discuss our problems is the answer," said Lon. "You cannot run a business by yourself. You have to make judgments to make things work. You need new ideas."

"This business has been successful because we're both working together. We're both working for the success of the business," Lon explained.

Saxton's founder still boss in the family business

Farming and gardening has been in the Saxton family for almost 60 years. But what keeps the weeds out of the Saxton family is a sharing of information between all members of the Saxton family, according to Val Saxton, one component in the family-owned business legacy.

The Northville Feed Store, as it was then called, began in 1928 as a brainstorming idea of Dean Saxton. Dean, now 89, passed his farming and business knowledge down to son, William, who is now passing that same knowledge back to his three sons and one daughter.

"We've been very successful because we are a family-owned business. Chris (one son) has been in it for about 35 years and all of our kids are working here now," said Val Saxton, William's wife.

The store has changed slightly from the days of feed and seed to its present form of stocking lawn equipment, gardening supplies and a wide-range outdoor materials. But even with these changes, Val said the philosophies of the business have remained intact as father Dean still keeps a watchful eye on the operations and still plays a key role in all long-term decisions.

"Dean is 89 but he's still part-owner. He wants this to remain a family business," explained.

Val reported that William acts as the general manager of the store while his children have been named department heads. Eventually, she said, William who is now 60, plans to phase himself out of the operation to allow the children to take reins.

"We're starting to think about passing the family business down to the children. In some cases we've established of businesses and we're making the children department heads of them. I think the boys will pretty well familiar with the method of business and we'll add more."

Auto club seeking entrants

Creative alcohol-free drink recipes are being sought by AAA Michigan for its "Zero-Proof Mix-Off" contest, which offers a $1,000 trip for two to Florida as top prize.

The 20 drinks judged best will be included in a Great Pretenders Party Guide, to be distributed free statewide before the holidays at all AAA Michigan offices to help make the Christmas-New Year's period safer for motorists.

Imagination, ingredients found in most kitchens and perhaps a blender are all it takes for a creative mixologist to come up with a top nonalcoholic drink recipe. The deadline for entry is Sept. 17.

A panel will do preliminary judging of statewide entries Sept. 19. The 20 finalists must agree to serve their drinks to judges at 10 a.m. Oct. 1 at the Roostertail in Detroit. Entrants who reside more than 150 miles from downtown Detroit will be provided overnight lodging and a meal and mileage allowance.

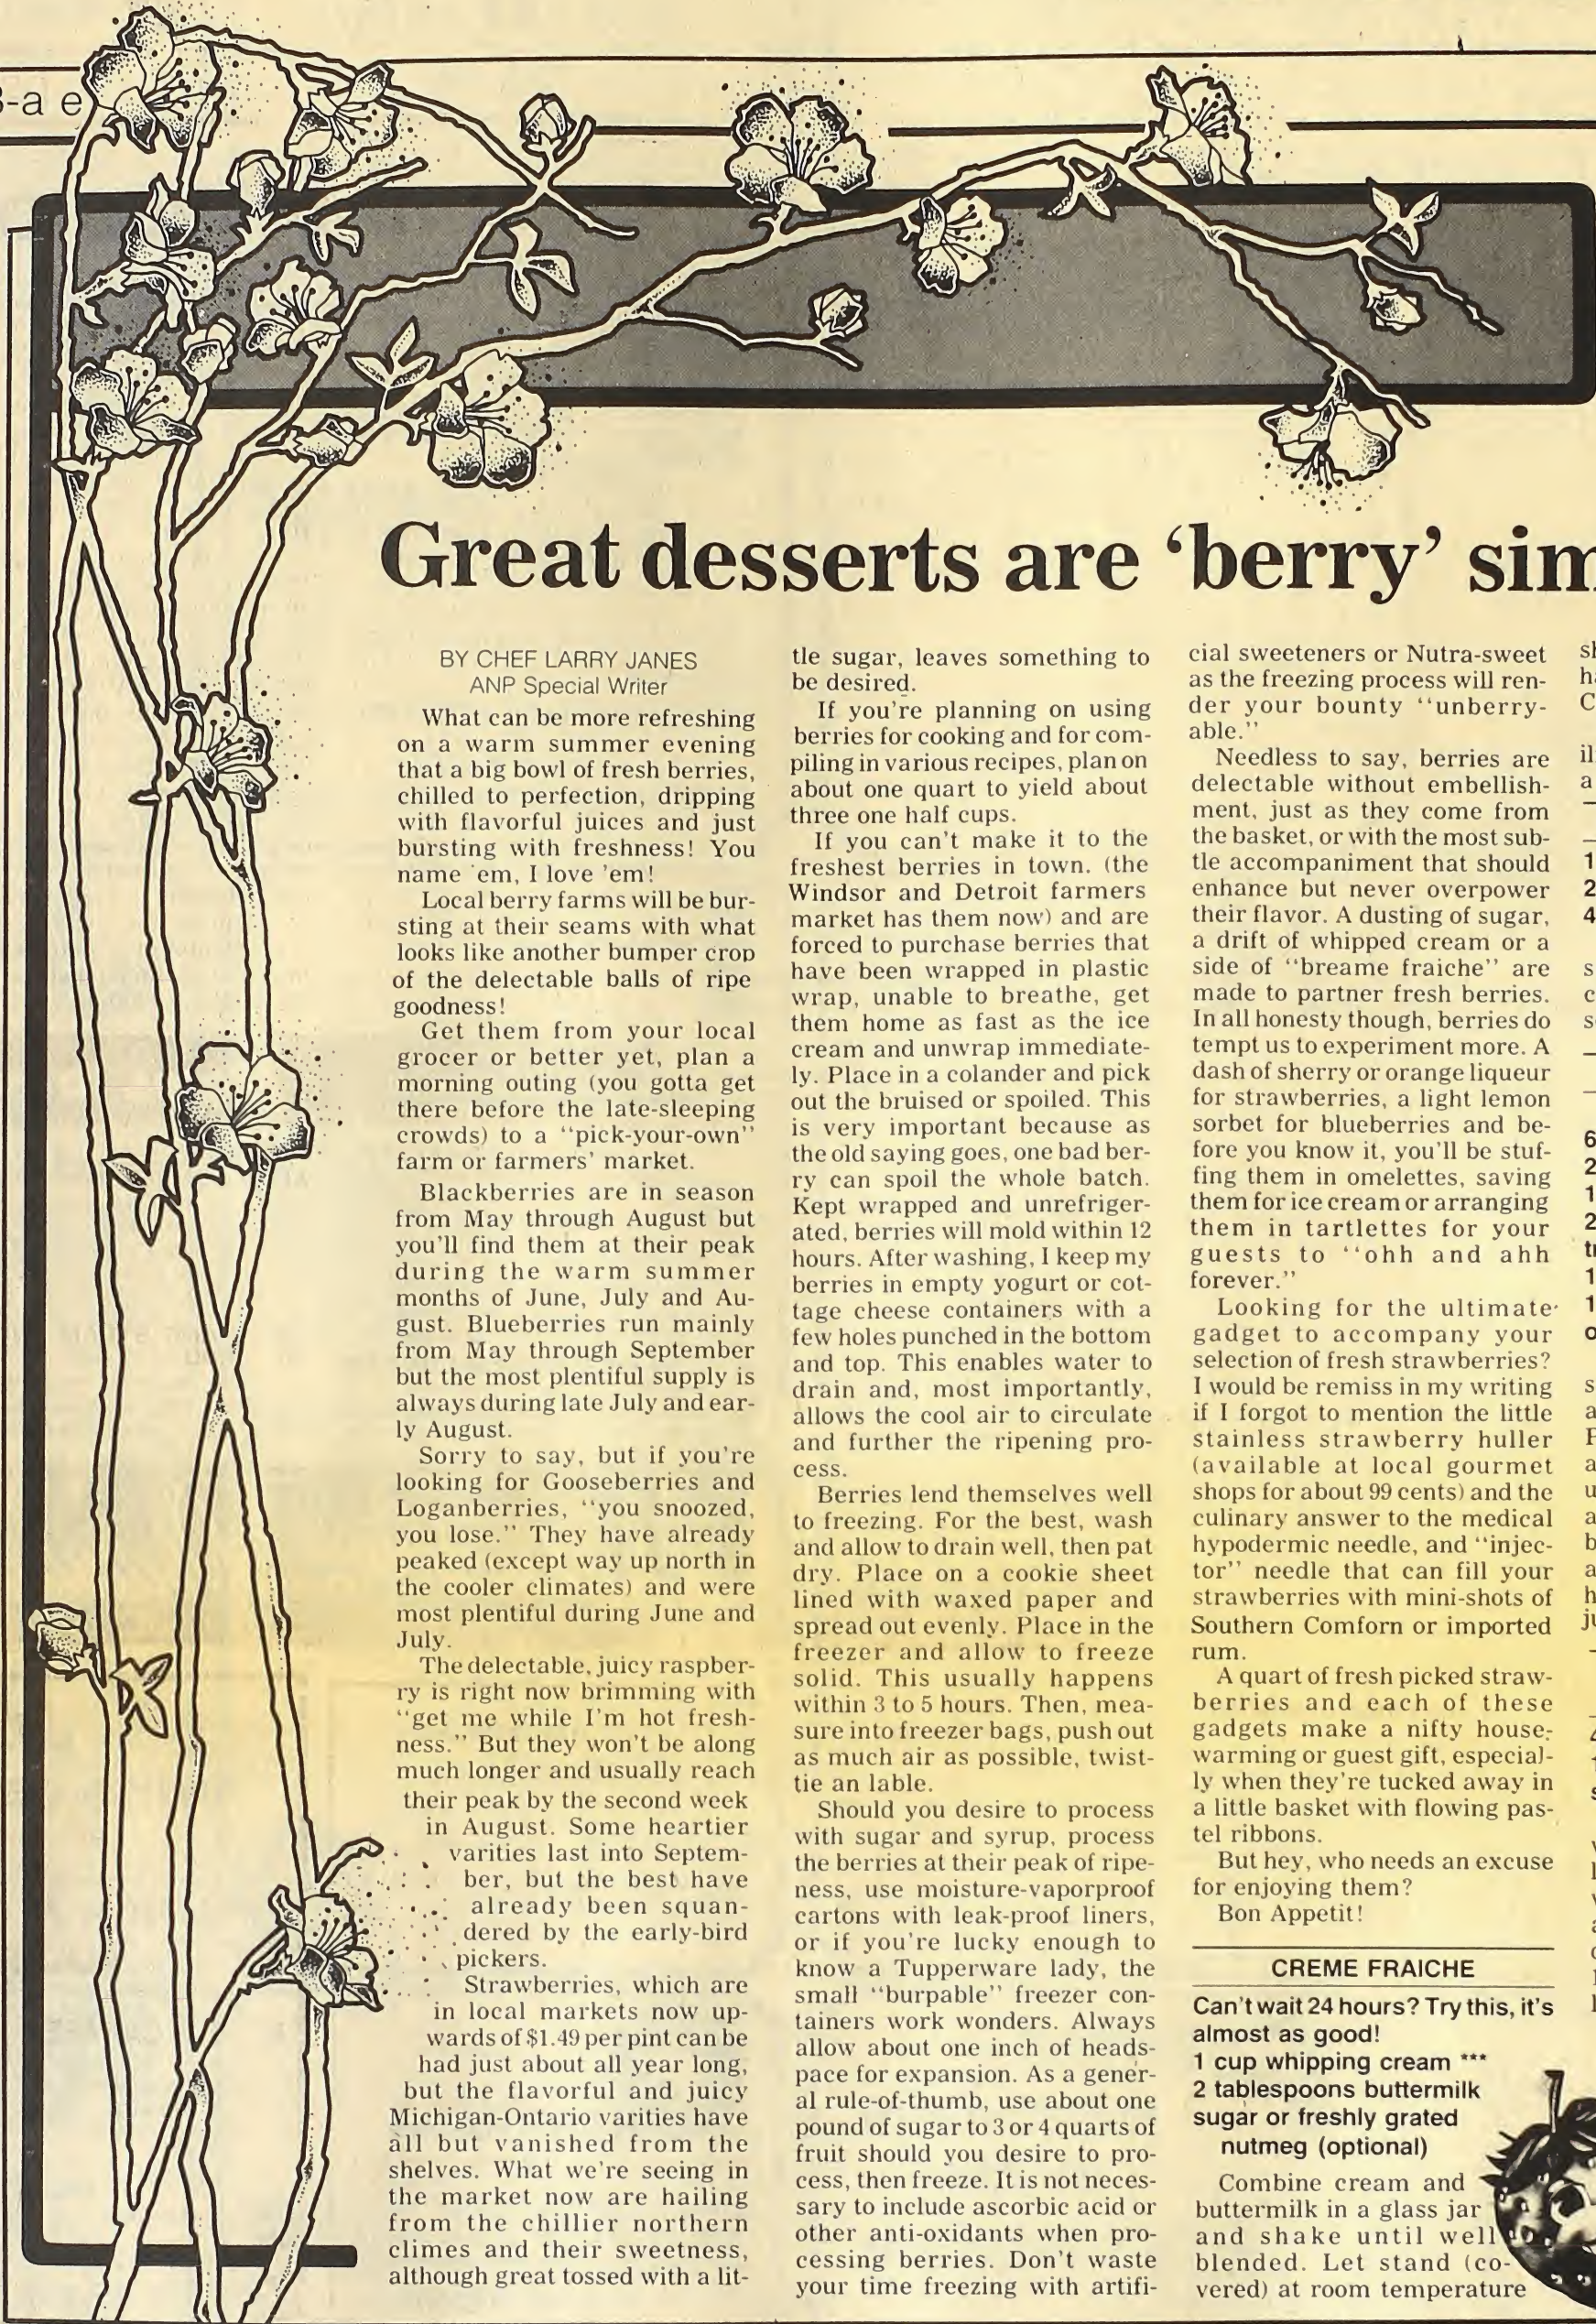

Michigan residents ages 16 and up can enter the competition, with only one entry per person allowed. Previous winning recipes are not eligible. Entrants must submit a neatly printed or typewritten alcohol-free drink recipe for one serving. No alcohol or flavor extract including alcohol will be allowed. There is no entry fee.

Entrants must give their name, address, telephone number, name of drink, specific amounts of each ingredient (no abbreviation) and how ingredients are blended together. Entries must be postmarked no later than midnight Sept. 16 and sent to AAA Michigan, Great Pretenders Guide, Public Relations, 1 Auto Club Drive, Dearborn, MI. 48126.

The winner last year was Steve Pogodzinski, a bartender at the Amway Grand Plaza in Grand Rapids, whose "Roman Holiday" included vanilla ice cream, cocoa, cappacino mix and honey.

Great desserts are 'berry' simple

BY CHEF LARRY JANES
ANP Special Writer

What can be more refreshing on a warm summer evening than a big bowl of fresh berries, chilled to perfection, dripping with flavorful juices and just bursting with freshness! You name 'em, I love 'em!

Local berry farms will be bursting at their seams with what looks like another bumper crop of the delectable balls of ripe goodness!

Get them from your local grocer or better yet, plan a morning outing (you gotta get there before the late-sleeping crowds) to a "pick-your-own" farm or farmers' market.

Blackberries are in season from May through August but you'll find them at their peak during the warm summer months of June, July and August. Blueberries run mainly from May through September but the most plentiful supply is always during late July and early August.

Sorry to say, but if you're looking for Gooseberries and Loganberries, "you snoozed, you lose." They have already peaked (except way up north in the cooler climates) and were most plentiful during June and July.

The delectable, juicy raspberry is right now brimming with "get me while I'm hot freshness." But they won't be along much longer and usually reach their peak by the second week in August. Some heartier varieties last into September, but the best have already been squandered by the early-bird pickers.

Strawberries, which are in local markets now upwards of $1.49 per pint can be had just about all year long, but the flavorful and juicy Michigan-Ontario varieties have all but vanished from the shelves. What we're seeing in the market now are hailing from the chillier northern climes and their sweetness, although great tossed with a little sugar, leaves something to be desired.

If you're planning on using berries for cooking and for compiling in various recipes, plan on about one quart to yield about three one half cups.

If you can't make it to the freshest berries in town. (the Windsor and Detroit farmers market has them now) and are forced to purchase berries that have been wrapped in plastic wrap, unable to breathe, get them home as fast as the ice cream and unwrap immediately. Place in a colander and pick out the bruised or spoiled. This is very important because as the old saying goes, one bad berry can spoil the whole batch. Kept wrapped and unrefrigerated, berries will mold within 12 hours. After washing, I keep my berries in empty yogurt or cottage cheese containers with a few holes punched in the bottom and top. This enables water to drain and, most importantly, allows the cool air to circulate and further the ripening process.

Berries lend themselves well to freezing. For the best, wash and allow to drain well, then pat dry. Place on a cookie sheet lined with waxed paper and spread out evenly. Place in the freezer and allow to freeze solid. This usually happens within 3 to 5 hours. Then, measure into freezer bags, push out as much air as possible, twist-tie an lable.

Should you desire to process with sugar and syrup, process the berries at their peak of ripeness, use moisture-vaporproof cartons with leak-proof liners, or if you're lucky enough to know a Tupperware lady, the small "burpable" freezer containers work wonders. Always allow about one inch of headspace for expansion. As a general rule-of-thumb, use about one pound of sugar to 3 or 4 quarts of fruit should you desire to process, then freeze. It is not necessary to include ascorbic acid or other anti-oxidants when processing berries. Don't waste your time freezing with artificial sweeteners or Nutra-sweet as the freezing process will render your bounty "unberry-able."

Needless to say, berries are delectable without embellishment, just as they come from the basket, or with the most subtle accompaniment that should enhance but never overpower their flavor. A dusting of sugar, a drift of whipped cream or a side of "bream fraiche" are made to partner fresh berries. In all honesty though, berries do tempt us to experiment more. A dash of sherry or orange liqueur for strawberries, a light lemon sorbet for blueberries and before you know it, you'll be stuffing them in omelettes, saving them for ice cream or arranging them in tartlettes for your guests to "ohh and ahh forever."

Looking for the ultimate gadget to accompany your selection of fresh strawberries? I would be remiss in my writing if I forgot to mention the little stainless strawberry huller (available at local gourmet shops for about 99 cents) and the culinary answer to the medical hypodermic needle, and "injector" needle that can fill your strawberries with mini-shots of Southern Comfort or imported rum.

A quart of fresh picked strawberries and each of these gadgets make a nifty housewarming or guest gift, especially when they're tucked away in a little basket with flowing pastel ribbons.

But hey, who needs an excuse for enjoying them?

Bon Appetit!

shaking several times until mix has thickened, about 24 hours. Chill thoroughly before serving.

If possible, do not use the sterilized whipping cream that has a two-month shelf-life!

INSTANT CREAM FRAICHE

1 cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons powdered sugar
4 tablespoons sour cream

Whip cream with powdered sugar, fold mixture into sour cream. Cover and chill until serving time.

CREME ANGLAISE
(English custard)

6 egg yolks
2 cups warm milk
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons Cognac, Cointreau or rum
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon fresh grated lemon or lime zest

Combine yolks, milk and sugar on top of a double boiler and whisk until well blended. Place over simmering water and cook, whisking constantly until custard thickens and coats a spoon. Transfer to a glass bowl. Stir in liqueur and vanilla and blend well. Cover and chill 4 hours. Stir in lemon or lime zest just before serving. Serves six.

FRESH BERRY SYRUP
(Makes about 3 cups)

4 cups ripe berries, hulled
1 cup water
sugar to taste

Line a strainer or colander with cheesecloth. Set over a large bowl. Combine berries with water in medium saucepan and bring slowly to a boil. Reduce heat and cook very slowly 10 minutes. Transfer to cheesecloth lined strainer and allow to (See BERRIES, next page)

CREME FRAICHE

Can't wait 24 hours? Try this, it's almost as good!
1 cup whipping cream ***
2 tablespoons buttermilk
sugar or freshly grated nutmeg (optional)

Combine cream and buttermilk in a glass jar and shake until well blended. Let stand (covered) at room temperature stand until juice has dripped completely into the bowl. Gently squeeze the pulp to extract any remaining juices. Measure juices into a saucepan and add 1 cup of sugar to each cup of juice. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until sugar is dissolved and syrup comes to a boil. Boil 2 minutes. Remove from heat and skim off the foam. Can be refrigerated up to two months and can be frozen. Can easily be doubled or tripled. Great over ice cream and as a sauce. Try it in a "spritzer" by mixing it with club soda and a healthy shot of dry white wine!

Combine yolks and cream in the top of a double boiler. Place over gently simmering water and cook, stirring constantly until custard coats a spoon. Remove from heat and cool. Stir in syrup, pour into an ice cream freezer and freeze per manufacturers directions.

BLUEBERRY SOUR CREAM CAKE (Serves 8)

- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter or margarine
- 1 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 quart fresh blueberries
- 2 cups sour cream
- 2 egg yolks
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Generously butter a medium springform pan. Combine first 6 ingredients and mix thoroughly. Turn into prepared pan and sprinkle with blueberries. Combine remaining ingredients in a separate bowl. Blend well. Pour over blueberries. Bake for 1 hour or until edges are lightly browned. Can be made with any berry!

BERRY SYRUP ICE CREAM (Serves 4)

- 8 egg yolks
- 2 cups whipping cream
- 2 cups fresh berry syrup (see recipe above)

Museum relives olden days

By JOAN MARY DYER ANP Staff Writer

If you are interested in a sampling of everyday life in the area from about 1825 to 1910, a stroll through the Plymouth Historical Museum will give some insights into the era of our grandparents and great-grandparents.

At present a exhibit of Coca-Cola memorabilia is on display in the main room of the museum located at 155 South Main Street in downtown Plymouth. The area is reserved for the special exhibits which change periodically.

A section of Victorian rooms includes a parlor, dining room, kitchen - with cast iron stove, and a bedroom furnished with wash bowl, pitcher and chamber pot.

Main Street brings the visitor on a walk through the Plymouth of the mid-1800s to 1900s. Vistors can peer through the store windows to see a hand-operated printing press in the print shop and boxes of herbs and patent medicines in the drug store. The street includes a hotel lobby, law office, bank and general store. The Village Hall features an oak desk which belonged to Governor Pingree and a pulpit and stained glass windows from the old First Baptist Church grace the "meeting house." Rifles from the Daisy Mfg Co., which made Plymouth the "air rifle capital of the world," are also displayed on Main Street.

In the lower level is a "Then and Now" hands-on exhibit center for young and old where visitors can learn about the toys, clothing, schools and daily routine of the early 1800s.

An exhibit of laundry equipment lists detailed instructions for washing clothes which include the following:

- Build a fire in the back yard to heat up the kettle of rain water.
- Set tubs so smoke won't blow in your eyes if wind is "pert."
- Shave a whole cake of soap in boiling water.

The instructions end with the advice to throw the pan of rinse water in the flower bed and wash the front porch with the soapy wash water - enough to make the homemaker of today truly grateful for her automatic washer and dryer.

The museum is open Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m. Guided tours for groups of 20 or more may be arranged by contacting the museum director at 455-8940. The museum is owned and operated by the Plymouth Historical Society.

Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.
